TO PRESENT COMEDY

Threshold Players to Stage "Adam and Eva" at North Shore Methodist Church Next Thursday and Friday

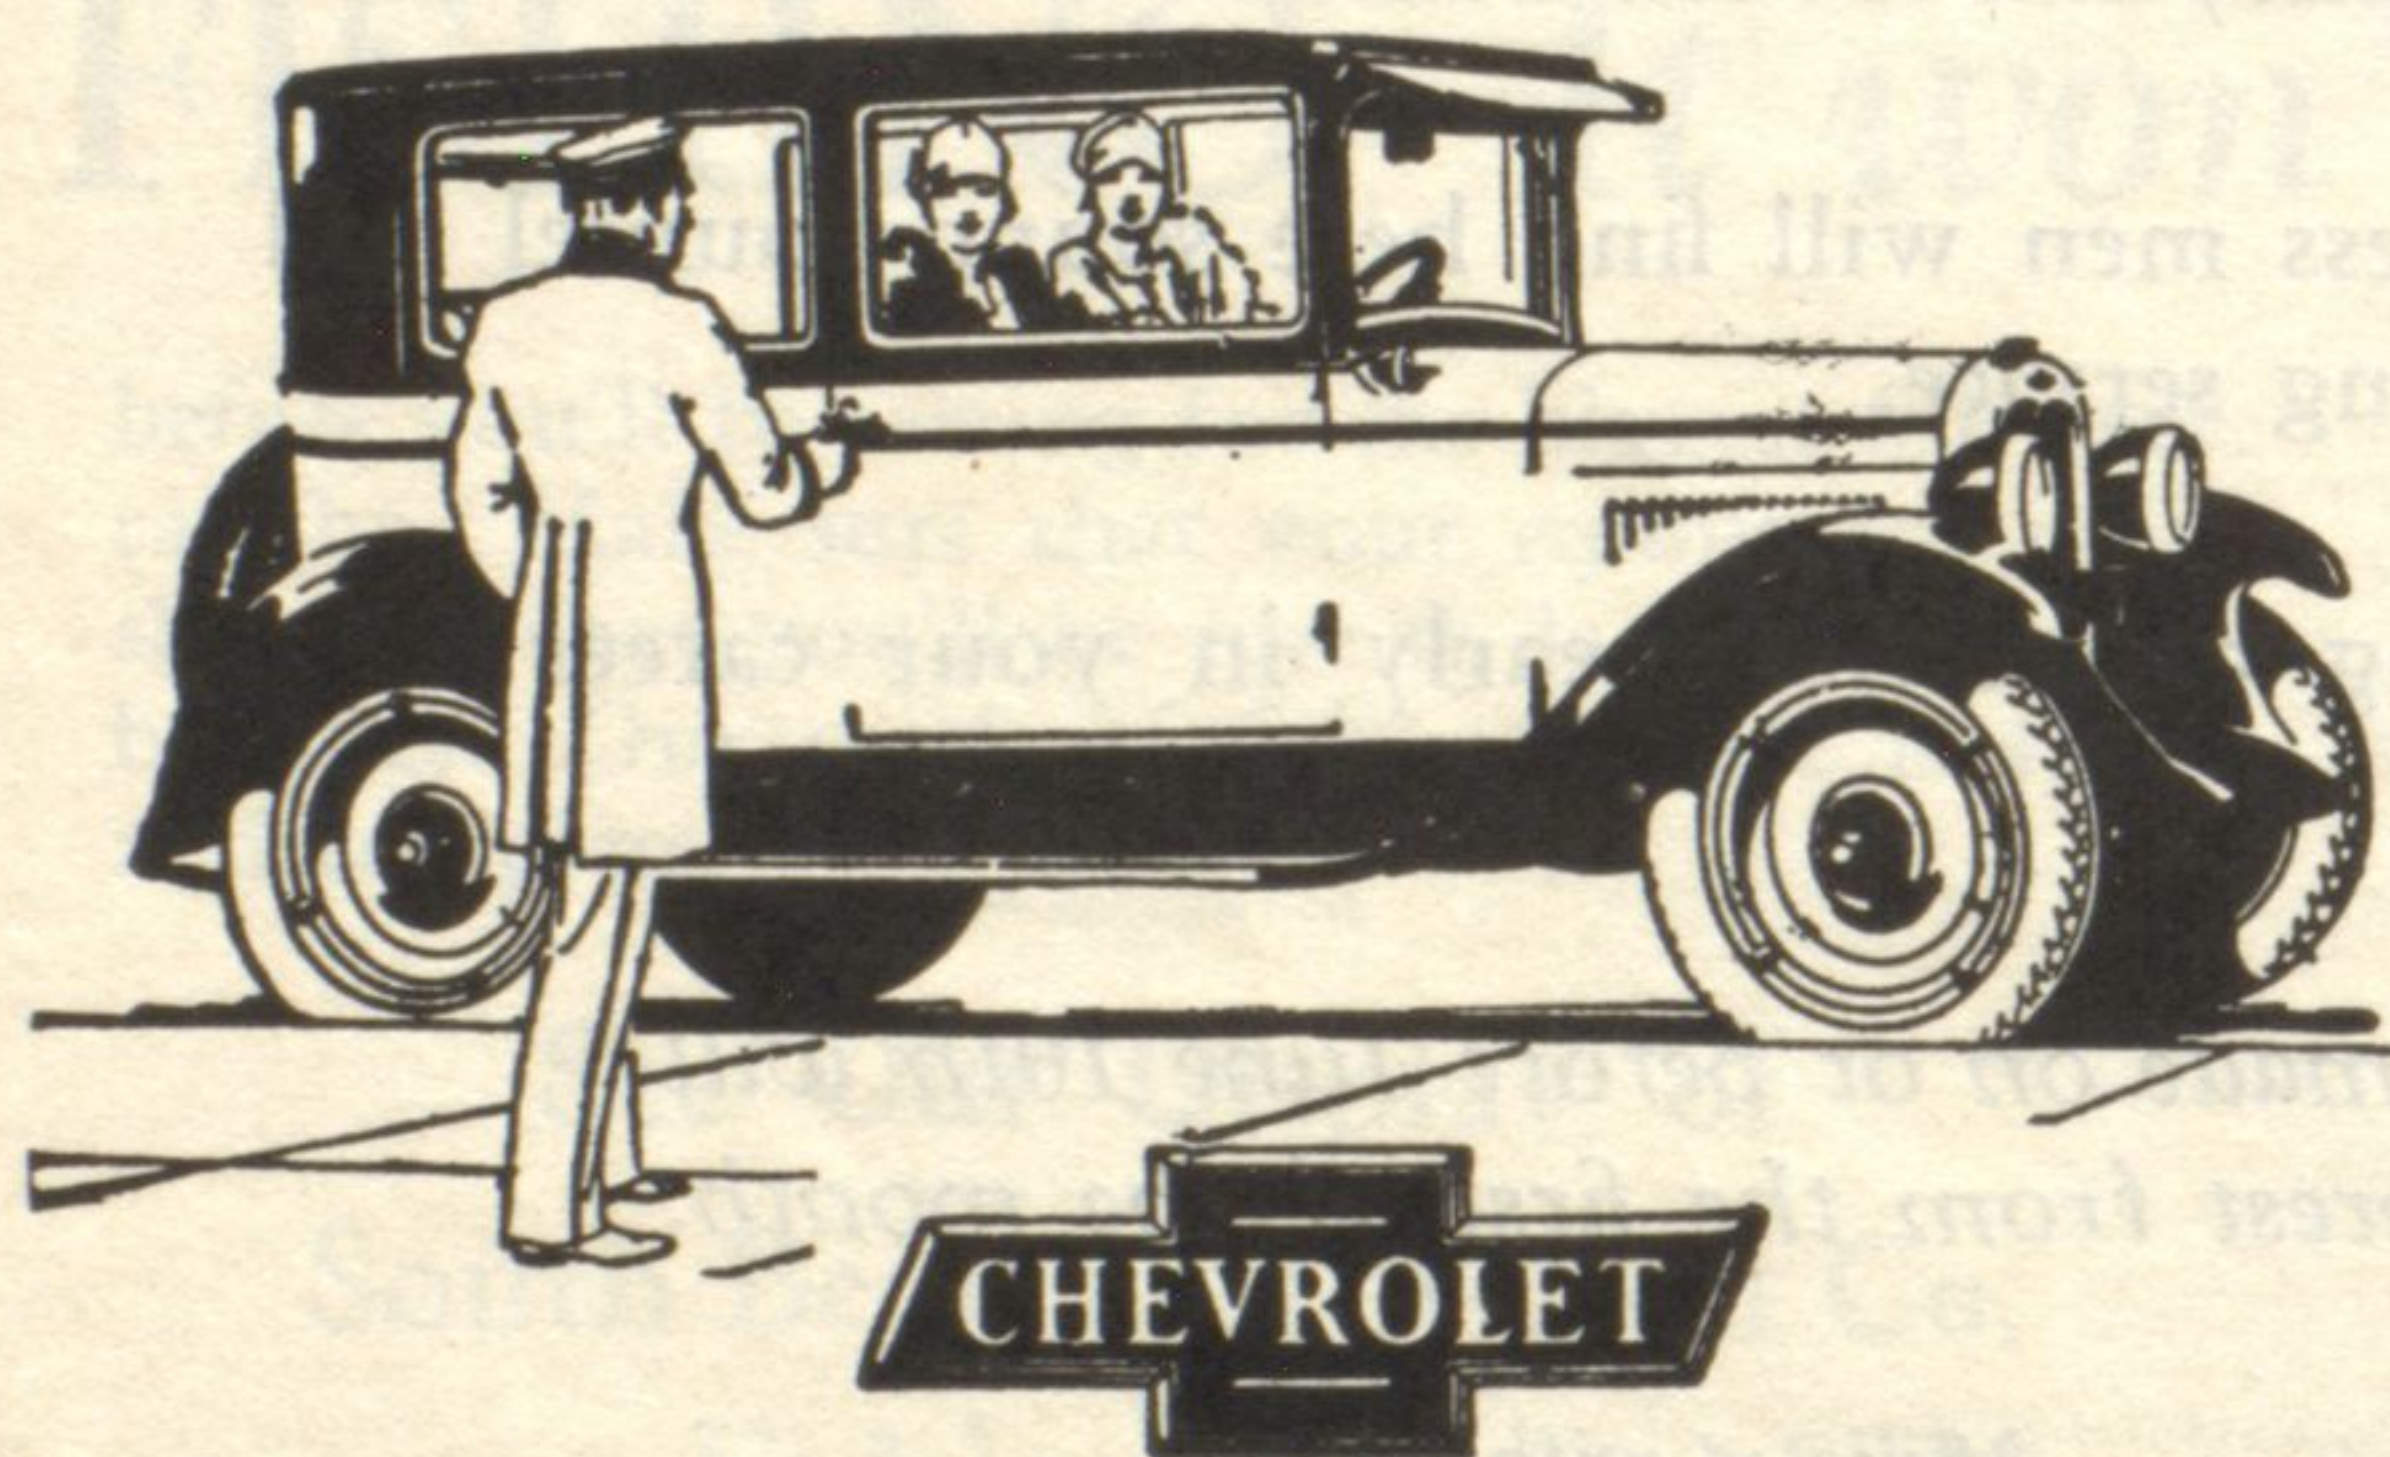

The Threshold Players of Glencoe will present "Adam and Eva," a swift-moving three act comedy, next Thursday and Friday evenings, June 9 and 10, at the North Shore Methodist Episcopal church, corner of Hazel and Greenleaf avenues. "Adam and Eva" was presented in Chicago several years ago, when Morris Gest and Ray Comstock brought it to the LaSalle theater, where it had a long run before enthusiastic audiences. It is original, bright, and full of the deft touches that make a play popular.

The story of the play is the eternal wrangle between the head of the house, "James King," and his two daughters, "Julie" and "Eva," over the spending of money. The daughters are very extravagant, the hangers-on, a crochety old uncle, a spinster aunt, and Julie's husband are ungrateful, and as a result Mr. King, really a good-natured fellow, becomes irritable and exacting. He decides to go away on a long journey, driven to the step by the scheming in his household. He installs "Adam Smith," his competent business manager, as head of the household with full authority to act. Adam has much to learn about women, but he meets the situation. He tells them their father is on the verge of bankruptcy, and insists that they all go to work. Although the word "work" is new to them, they accept the situation. The play proceeds cleverly to the end, which is a happy one for all concerned.

A competent cast has been chosen, and is working under the direction of Mrs. Francis I. Woolley. The cast consists of Franklin I. Chichester, James King; Mrs. T. E. Schulte, Eva; Ethel Repass, Julie; Carl L. Lochner, Clinton DeWitte; W. Albert Kemp, Adam Smith; Norman E. Watson, Uncle Horace Pilgrim; Ethel DeLang, Aunt Abbie Rocker; Irma Keehn, Corinthia, the maid; Joseph K. Shippen, Andrew Gordon; Moncure D. Paynter, Dr. Jack Delamarter. The staging is under the direction of Clyde Peaster.

Associate members of the Threshold Players will receive a card entitling them to view one performance of "Adam and Eva." For those who are neither associate nor active members, single admission tickets are being offered, and will be sold at the door also.

Mrs. Mellen C. Martin of 630 Rosewood lane returned Saturday from a three months' European tour. Accompanied by Mrs. Frank Clarke of Quebec, she visited England, France, and Spain, passing Holy Week in Spain.
