The Prim Press, giving you a better ironing service

This is a Prim Press—the very newest of ironing devices. It enables us to give you ironing service of a higher quality than ever before.

With this remarkable new press, the operator simply places your dainty blouse or waist on a padded ironing board, smooths it out as you would do at home and by bringing down the upper part, or "head" of the press, as it is called, irons the garment automatically. Practically no effort is required from the operator.

This means finer ironing for all your wearing apparel—and, because the iron is heated with steam, and there is no rubbing or friction, it means positive protection against scorching and wear.

We wish you might inspect this wonderful new ironer personally—we know if you did you never would bother again with laborious ironing at home.

Phone today and have us tell you more of this fine service. It will assure you of new leisure and new economy on wash-day.
