Head of Welfare Research National College Speaker

Dr. Bird T. Baldwin, head of the Child Welfare Research station, University of Iowa, is scheduled as the speaker for Monday, July 18, at the 2 o'clock assembly of the National Kindergarten and Elementary college.

The University of Iowa was one of the pioneers in incorporating the study of child welfare in the university curriculum, and a great deal of valuable work has been accomplished through the facilities which it affords students interested in various problems of child welfare. Dr. Baldwin is an unusually fine speaker and discusses the work of the research station in an interesting and non-technical manner quite comprehensible to the parent or teacher who has not specialized in this field.

Prof. Ely of Land Research Institute Seeks to Find Way to Live in Comfort in Congested Chicago

Interesting research in Europe upon which will be based some of the features of a special course in housing to be offered at Northwestern university during the coming college period, is being conducted abroad by Coleman Woodbury, a Northwestern alumnus who recently won a Rhodes scholarship.

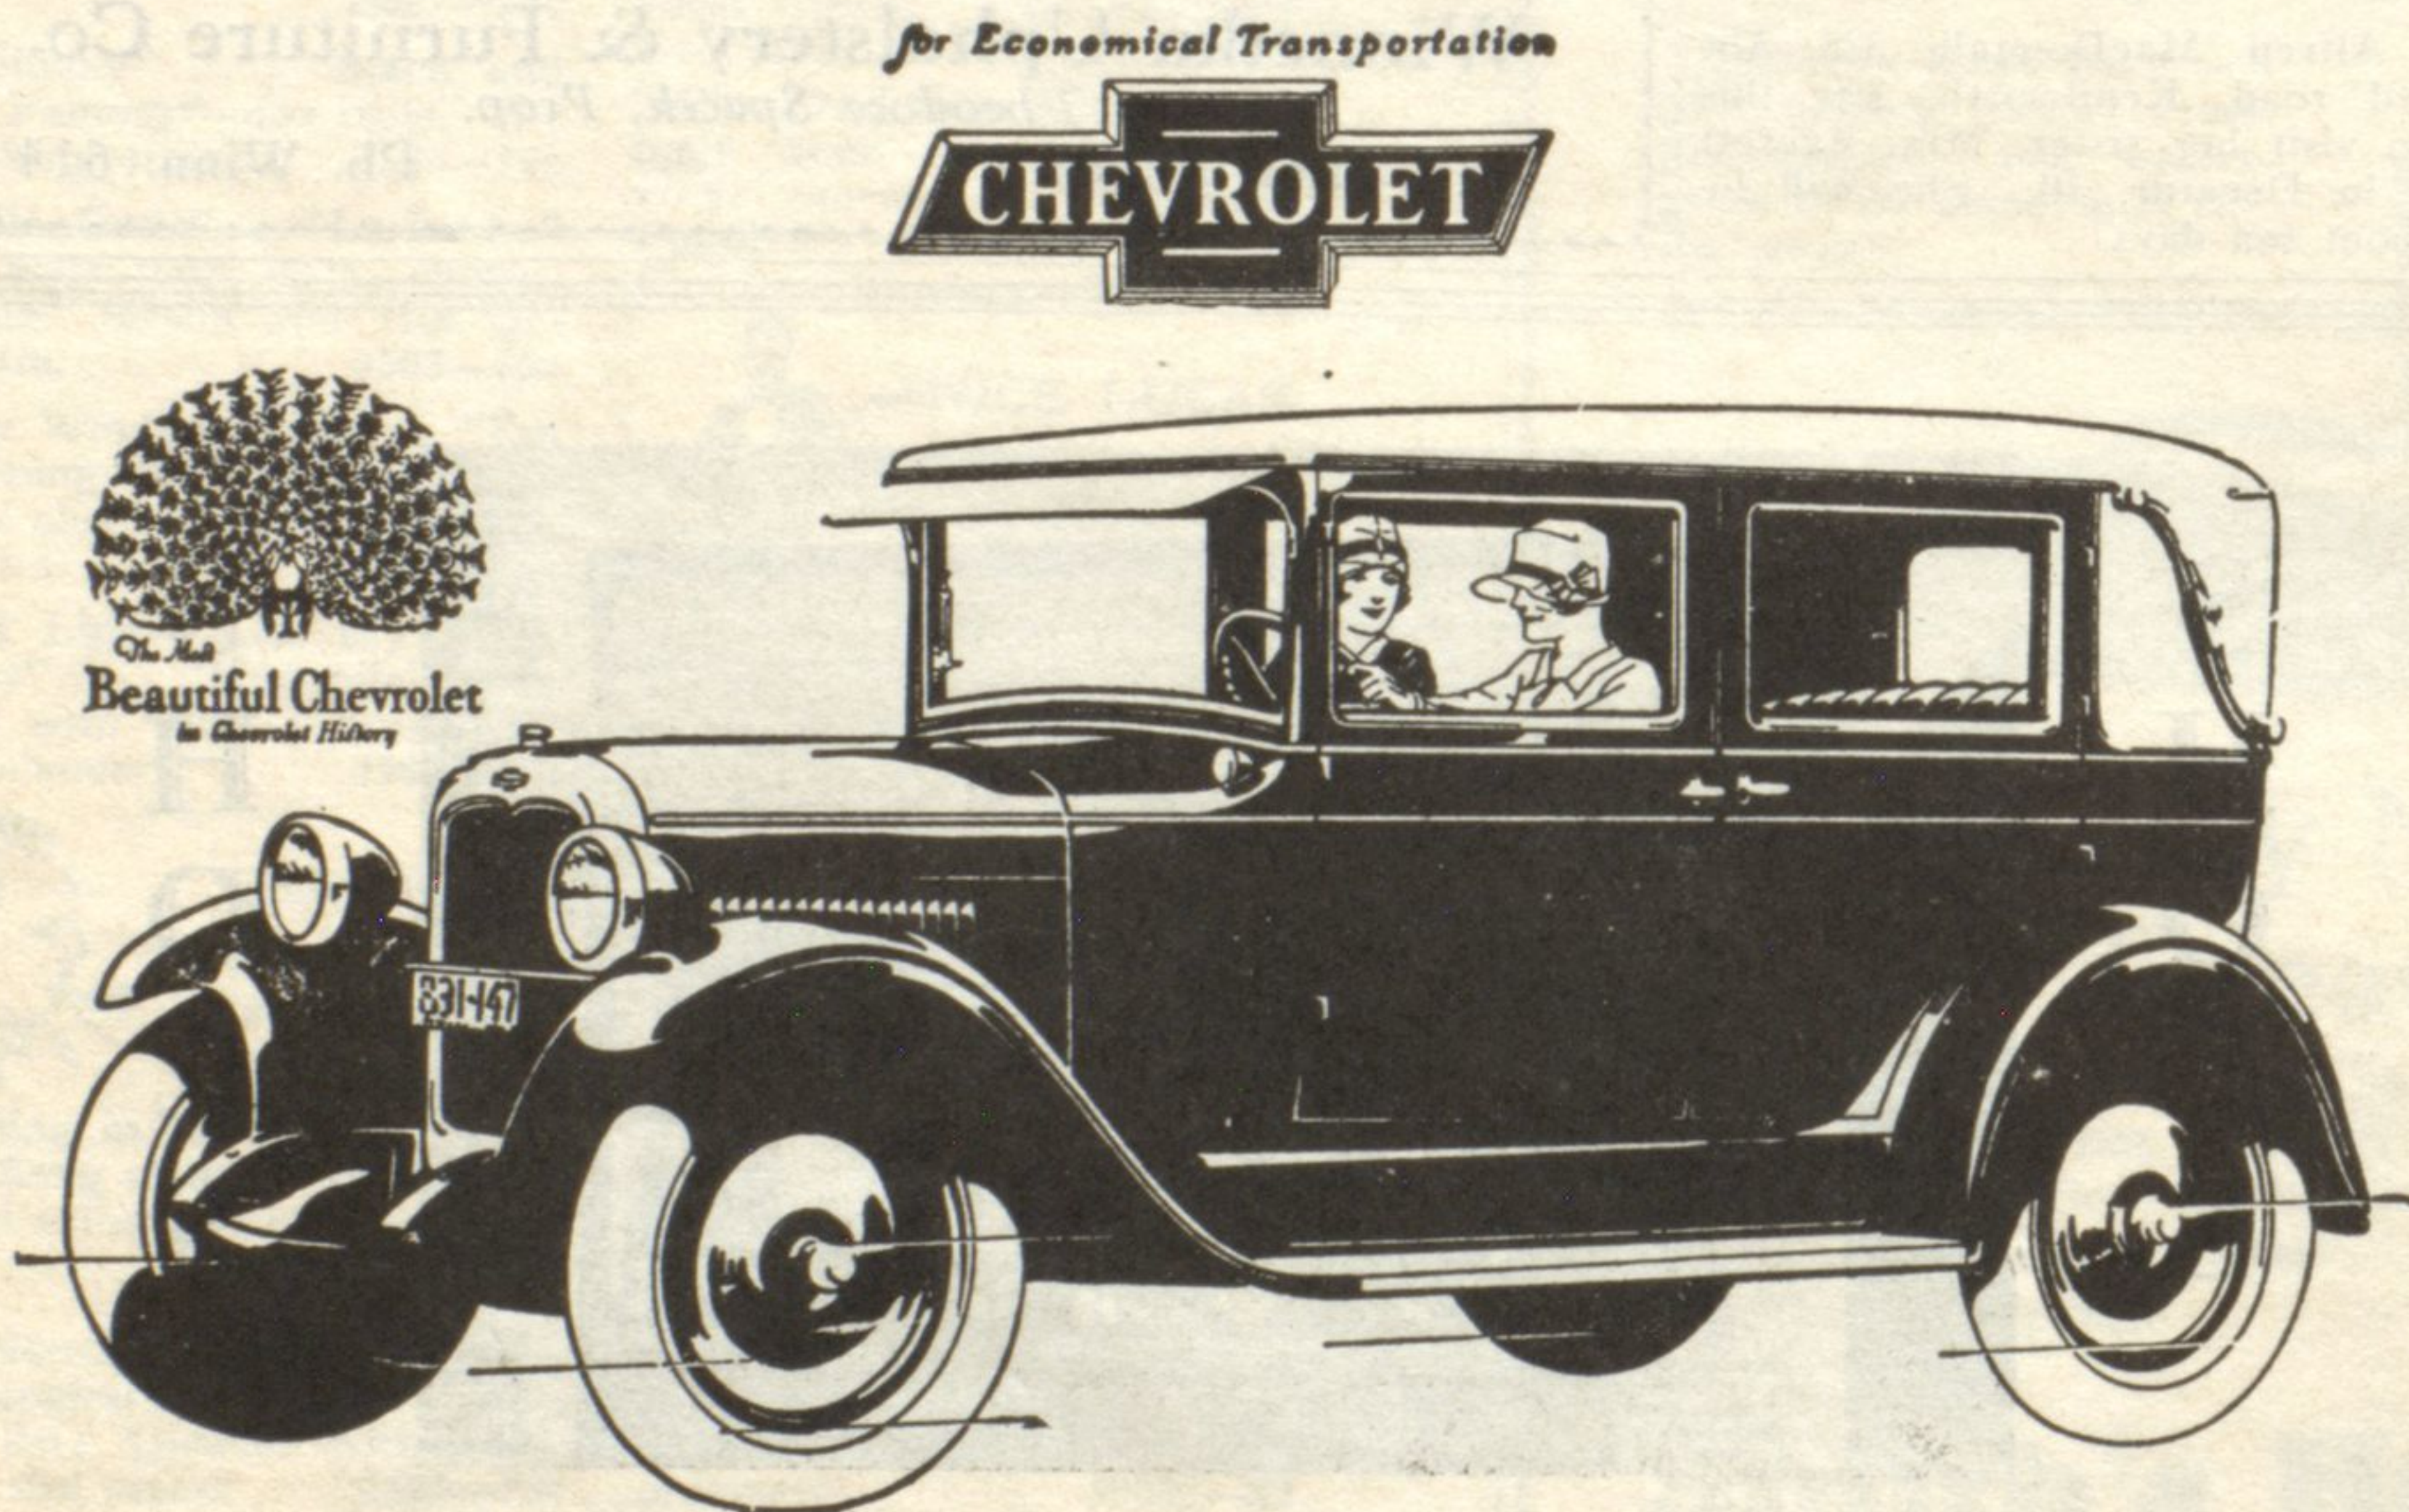

How to live in comfort with healthful air and environment, even in the more congested districts of Chicago, will be the basis of the special study to be directed by Prof. Richard T. Ely, director of the Institute for Research in Land Economics and Public Utilities.

Prof. Ely has taken a leading part in studying the American housing situation, and was one of the sponsors for the famous "Sunnyside" metropolitan community in New York. Mr. Woodbury is now touring Europe and is at present in touch with the National Housing and Town Planning Association of England and with the International Federation for Housing and Town Planning in London. He will follow his English investigations with trips to Germany, Holland and probably some of the reconstructed towns in northern France. Returning in the autumn he will assist Dr. Ely in mapping out his housing course, which will probably be offered in the second semester of the coming university year.

Miss Ella Shuette, who was the guest last week of Miss Betty Alder in her home at 931 Greenwood avenue, left Thursday for her home in Manitowoc, Wis.

Mrs. Charles Howard Bent of Winnetka is entertaining her sister-in-law at a luncheon and bridge in her home today.
