Yacht Capsized
by Squall Off
Wilmette Harbor

The yacht "Nomad," belonging to the Lake Geneva Yacht club, was capsized near Wilmette harbor last night in the squall which hit the north shore between 10 and 11 o'clock. Capt. Otto Fricke and his crew from the coast guard station in Evanston were called at 11 o'clock.

They went to the aid of the yacht in their power boat, righted her, and took her and her two men occupants to Wilmette harbor.

Tuesday Captain Fricke and his men freed a motor cruiser, which had gone aground off Highland park on July 1. The boat, belonging to Bert Covert of Chicago, was released from its high and dry perch by shoveling away the sand. She was then calked and taken to Wilmette harbor after work which had consumed the morning.

Gives Dramatic Reading at National College July 20

Caroline Crawford McLean, who is giving an interesting course in dramatic art in the National Kindergarten and Elementary college this summer, will give a dramatic reading at the assembly on Wednesday afternoon, July 20.

Mrs. McLean, who was formerly a member of the faculty of Teachers college, Columbia university, is well known throughout the country, both as an instructor in the field of dramatic art and as the author of several books of rhythms and rhythmic plays. The following extract is from an interesting account of Mrs. McLean's work which appeared in the New York "Telegraph" this spring:

"Miss Crawford (Mrs. McLean) was one of the first American educators to recognize the place the dance occupies in the evolution of arts and to treat the folk dance as a legitimate part of folk drama—for the dramas of all primitive peoples are portrayed in rhythmic pantomime. She believes that the development of character is closely related to the study and expression of a child's evolution in character manifestation and accordingly has traced in her books the beginnings of the earliest childlike forms in logical as well as psychological order."

IN CORNERSTONE BOX

The copper box in the cornerstone of the new State Bank and Trust company building, Evanston, contains documents and articles which will reveal to some future generation the financial status of the bank together with significant facts about the city. Among the articles are: List of stockholders, names of present and past members of the board of directors; copy of the bank charter, balance sheet of the bank at the close of business Dec. 11, 1926; copy of the banking laws of the state; photographs of the former and present buildings; current issues of the Chicago Tribune, Wilmette Life, Evanston News Index, and The Evanston Review; a copy of the Review containing an article on William A. Dyche, chairman and senior member of the board of directors; programs of the Chicago-Northwestern football game and the Army-Navy football game; book on the history of Evanston (presented by the Chamber of Commerce), and current coins and currency.

FIREWORKS AT GOLF CLUB

An elaborate program of fireworks concluded an eventful day at Westmoreland Country club Monday. During the afternoon a program for the children was given followed by a supper in the grill and dancing.
