North Shore Humane Society in Campaign for More Members

Earnest effort to increase their supporting membership, which is now 300 and should be, they feel, 3,000, is being made by workers of the North Shore Humane society at Evanston.

Recently they have acquired a shelter which they have made "an oasis in the city yards." They have had it fenced in, grass plots placed, flower boxes installed and this week the cement runway is being completed.

The establishment of this permanent shelter has done away with the city dog pound, and owners of lost dogs may feel easier, they assert, to know that when a stray pet is picked up by the pound master it is taken to this shelter and given the best possible care. Steps are taken immediately to locate its rightful owner, if possible. After a certain length of time, if unclaimed, a good home is found for the dog.

Rescue Horses and Goats Also

The same is true of cats, and horses which have been deserted have been saved from starvation, and recently a goat, tied and left alone in a deserted garage without food or water, was rescued and given a home.

Veterinary service is given the animals in need of it, and when they are too ill to enjoy life they are mercifully put out of misery. The cost of maintaining the service, the food, the shelter, the caretaker and other work in this connection, must be met by the generosity of friends of animals, and it is the hope of the workers that the membership may be largely increased with the coming weeks.

City Officials Co-operate

The co-operation of city officials from the mayor down is a matter of considerable satisfaction to the society workers. Frederick Arnd is president of the Humane society. Others who are energetic in its interests include Miss Marion Bremond, Mrs. W. S. Powers, Mrs. Arnd, Mrs. Edward M. Skinner, Alfred Eustace, Mrs. Louis Beardsley, Mrs. Willis Brightmire, Miss Maude Merriam, Miss Lydia Pearl Coe. John Hahn is treasurer of the organization.

Pasadena is sending us a number of interesting visitors, among whom is Mrs. Stoughton, sister of Mrs. Frank Cheeseman, formerly of Kenilworth but now living at the Orrington. Mrs. Eastman's sister, Mrs. Walker from Pasadena, is with her, and Mrs. Eastman hopes to persuade her to remain for the summer. They are expecting to motor East as soon as they can make suitable arrangements.

J. C. Carpenter, 422 Woodstock road, Kenilworth, came back to Kenilworth from his Virginia home for a few days this week. The family is down there for the summer and the children are enjoying horseback riding.
