

Hubbard Woods Sweet Shop

Could you call it an oasis? Well, not just that—because Hubbard Woods is no desert. But it is the best refreshment headquarters in that village, and serves the best soda, sundaes, or ice cream.

Glencoe Man Witnesses Great Kilauea in Action

A spectacular return of molten lava to the fire pit of Kilauea volcano seemed to be arranged for the special benefit of Oliver Picher of Glencoe, Ill., and his fellow travelers who arrived at Honolulu July 8 on the S. S. City of Honolulu.

The activity which began the night before is the first in three years and is attracting such crowds of spectators that the boats plying between Honolulu and the island of Hawaii where the volcano is located are booked to capacity. Beautiful fountains of red lava are playing the pit Halemaumau and visitors are watching the weird show by day and night. The Hawaiians are throwing ohelo berries and other offerings into the pit in recognition of Pele, the goddess of the volcano.

Miss Marian Fulton, of 884 Hill road, whose marriage to Lawrence Edmund DeBout of Landerhill, Ohio, will probably be an early fall event, is leaving Monday to join her mother, Mrs. Frank D. Fulton, for a week or ten days in Michigan. On Thursday before her departure Miss Fulton was honored at a shower given by Miss Eleanor Calkins of Rogers Park.

Services Held for Mrs. Mary Barry, Resident 35 Years

Mrs. Mary Burton Stewart Barry, 82 years old, and for the past 35 years a resident of Wilmette, passed away at her home, 912 Greenleaf avenue, last Monday. Mrs. Barry was the daughter of Thomas A. Stewart, first editor and publisher of the Chicago Tribune and had been a resident of Chicago and the North Shore all of her life, having come to Illinois with her parents when less than a year old.

She was born in Laporte, Ind., where her father had been the editor of the Laporte Whig. In 1847 her parents moved to Chicago, residing on what was at that time the north side but is now in the heart of the city. Mrs. Barry received her education in the Northwestern Female seminary, an antecedent of Northwestern university. In 1867 she became the wife of George Barry, an officer in the Consumers company and who passed away in 1905. Mr. and Mrs. Barry were active in the founding of the Swedenborg church on Van Buren street.

Surviving are three children, Dr. George F. Barry of Evanston, Mrs. John A. MacLean of Wilmette, and Mrs. Eugene A. Hatch of New York, with ten grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Wednesday from the residence.
