

Midsummer Rivals June as Favored Season for Weddings

Guest Days Popular With Women Golfers Along North Shore

Guest days, club tournaments, and inter-club tournaments seem to be providing the events of interest for women golfers along the north shore during the last part of July and most of August. Of especial interest to those who follow events outside of play in their own club are the five matches which north shore teams are playing during the summer, the third of which was played on Monday of this week at the Evanston club. The standing of the teams together with the number of points which each has earned up to date is as follows: Evanston, first, with 234 points; Exmoor, second, 197½ points; Glenview, third, 188½ points; Indian Hill, fourth, 157½ points; Skokie, fifth, with 156 points; Sunset Ridge, sixth, with 129 points; North Shore, seventh, with 99½ points; and Wilmette, eighth, with 98 points. The fourth and next-to-last match is to be played next Monday at the Exmoor club.

Friday of this week was planned as guest day at the Westmoreland club, where Mrs. W. H. Muschlet is chairman of women's golf. Two prizes were to be awarded, the first to the first flight player who had the greatest number of sixes or under, and the second to the second flight player for the greatest number of sevens or under.

At the Wilmette Golf club, where Mrs. John H. Brodt of Evanston is chairman, Tuesday was guest day, and the objective was to be the best score on the third, seventh, twelfth, fourteenth, and sixteenth holes. On August 2 the qualifying round for the August trophy will be played.

Last Friday was guest day at the North Shore Golf club, and Mrs. Charles E. Driver, who is chairman there, reports that there were thirty guests and forty members out. This Friday a best-ball twosome is being played.

At the Indian Hill Country club the events for the month of August are to be as follows: August 3, count putts; August 10, choice score of partners; August 17, eighteen-hole low net handicap in classes; August 24, flag contest; and August 31, mystery nine.

Mrs. Ernest B. Bartlett is chairman of women's golf events at the Skokie Country club, and she gives the following outline of events for the next month: Friday, July 29, qualifying round for the July championship, match play in three flights; August 5, guest day, four-ball foursome; Thursday, August 11, mixed foursome; Friday, August 12, the better nine of eighteen holes, one-half handicap, with a putting tournament in the afternoon; Thursday, August 18, mixed foursome; Friday, August 19, eighteen hole medal play, greatest number of fives and sixes, and a driving contest in the afternoon; August 26, qualifying round for the club championship.

At Skokie Playfield the postponed tournament which was scheduled for the preceding week was held this Tuesday, with the following results: In the handicap medal play Mrs. L. M. Stoddard was first, Mrs. R. V. Robinson, second, and Mrs. R. F. Seagans, third; in the putting contest, Miss Helen Tilroe was first, and Mrs. George W. Perrigo and Mrs. Ralph S. Childs tied for second; the surprise prize was awarded to Miss Carol Fossum for the fewest strokes on three waterholes. Mrs. Vincent Cartier is

Kenilworth Garden Club Exhibit Has Record Entry List

Over sixty entries were shown at the exhibit of the Kenilworth Garden club held last Friday at the home of Mrs. Sidney Y. Ball, 936 Hill road, Winnetka. In the first class, which was a showing of flowers in shades of yellow, first prize was awarded to Mrs. Hugh A. Foresman, second prize to Mrs. James H. Prentiss, and third prize to Mrs. Rufus B. Stolp. In the class two showing, which was of flowers in shades of pink, the winners were Mrs. Bentley G. McCloud, Mrs. Douglas Flood, and Mrs. Grant Ridgway. In the blue and lavender shades combination contest, Mrs. E. F. Snyder was the prize winner. Mrs. Bentley G. McCloud and Mrs. Gilbert Kelly were first and second prize winners in the mixed flowers exhibit.

The judges were Mrs. Thomas H. Eddy of Evanston and Mrs. Charles Strong and Mrs. Stephen Foster of Winnetka. Mrs. Douglas Flood is president of the club.

The Kenilworth Garden club will hold its next meeting next Friday, August 5, at the home of Mrs. Grant Ridgway, 207 Cumberland avenue. Mrs. R. R. Hammond of the Barrington Garden club will be the speaker. Hostesses for the day will be Mrs. Ridgway and Mrs. James Prentiss.

temporary chairman of women's golf at the club during the absence of Mrs. C. B. Cook. Events scheduled for the month of August are the following: August 2, prizes for lowest score on even and for lowest score on odd holes; August 16, nine holes low gross and nine holes low net, two prizes for each, and a driving and putting contest; August 30, flag tournament, with three prizes.

Mrs. Arthur T. Goodman, chairman of women's golf at the Sunset Ridge Golf club, reports that the regular Tuesday events will take place all during August, with the regular bridge-luncheons on Wednesdays. Thursday of this week was marked by mixed foursome play for a silver trophy. August 9 will be guest day, and on August 14 there will be a mixed two-ball foursome. One of the most important events of the summer at the club took place on Thursday of last week when Sunset Ridge was hostess to W. W. G. A. players, Mrs. Lee Mida of Butterfield placing first.

Kiddies Have Their Inning at Midsummer Frolic in Winnetka

BY JEAN L. DRAYER

Colored crepe paper streamers strung along the pathway at Bluff Edge, the Hubbard Woods home of Mrs. Douglas Smith, led the way Tuesday afternoon for three hundred north shore children and their parents and friends to the "Midsummer Frolic in Storyland," this year's midsummer frolic given by the students and faculty members of the summer school of the National Kindergarten and Elementary college. Miss Margaret Farrar of the college faculty was the author and producer of the play.

The Little Boy, Mother Goose, and the Fairy Lady held the center of the stage, which was on a little knoll in the beautiful lakeside grounds. From the sides of the stage, defined by the circling hedges and trees, appeared Peter Rabbit, the Three Bears, Little Black Sambo, Old King Cole, Humpty Dumpty, the Six-and-Twenty Blackbirds, and the little people of Bean Porridge Hot, all in turn. The orchestra and chorus on the terrace contributed their part to the total effect.

The Three Bears enacted their roles so realistically that when one bear cried because his bowl was empty, a little boy was noticed weeping in sympathy. The bear dance, which was really a kind of a hop, will doubtless be duplicated with more or less skill by energetic youngsters for weeks to come.

The tigers, too, seemed to be a particular center of attention and curiosity. One little boy explained that he did not think the tigers were real, but that the little girl next to him did—apparently a serious difference of opinion. The tiger tails were unusual sources of temptation, and their owners were finally forced to hold them up to prevent their being several entirely by mischievous hands.

Different personalities came out even in the youngest children, one of them going through the line twice to shake hands with the actors, and another so frightened that he refused to shake hands with anyone but Goldilocks. As the end of the affair neared, the children lined up long before it was necessary in order that there might be no possible chance of missing the final march behind the actors.

The children brought with them not only their mothers, but their fathers, aunts and uncles, and even grandmothers and grandfathers, all of whom seemed to be enjoying the Mother Goose rhymes and fairy stories equally as much as the youngest generation at their sides.

The proceeds from the Frolic are to help the college building fund toward the completion of Harrison hall, the National Kindergarten and Elementary college building at 2770 Sheridan road, Evanston.

Mrs. Douglas Smith, who is a life member of the College Governing board, generously gave the use of her grounds at Bluff Edge for this event. Other members of the Governing board acted as hostesses and assisted the college faculty in presenting the lovely summer entertainment.

Kentucky Society Meets

The Kentucky Society of Evanston and the North Shore will hold its next regular monthly meeting Tuesday, August 9, at the home of Mrs. W. Allen Pusey in the Glenview Golf club grounds.
