

Like Nectar

attracting the flitting butterfly is Indian Hill Eat Shop to the thirsty human being. A pure, cold glassful charms away that hot, wilted feeling and replaces it with visions of shady springs. Courteously served at our fountain.

PURCHASES BOOK SHOP

Miss Lulu King, formerly of the Chicago Daily Tribune, has purchased Mrs. Alice McAllister Skinner's book shop, located at 724 Elm street. Miss King opened the shop Monday, and sells books of all kinds, books and games especially for children, and greeting cards.

Miss Lorraine Walkey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Walkey, 970 Linden avenue, Hubbard Woods, left Monday for a three months' visit at Croton-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., as the guest of Mrs. Jerome Frank and her small daughter, Barbara.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Kurtz and their son, Donald, of 1229 Scott avenue, will leave early next week for a month's motor trip. They plan to drive through Minnesota and Michigan. Bill Kurtz is spending the summer at camp, in Ontario.

Preston Scores New Opera Success

Howard Preston, well known north shore baritone of the Chicago Civic Opera company, added to his laurels recently when he appeared in the role of "Wotan," in Wagner's "Die Walkure" at the Zoo Opera company of Cincinnati, an institution similar to Ravinia. Critics in the Ohio city were enthusiastic in their laudations concerning Mr. Preston's artistry.
