Just a Reminder—

Our delicious luncheons are only equaled by our service and courtesy.

Hubbard Woods Sweet Shop

Try Our Toastie Sandwiches

1064 GAGE STREET PHONES WINNETKA 2061-2344 HUBBARD WOODS

Indian Hill Golf Star Wins Big Exmoor Event

North shore golfers continue to shine in big tournament play. On Wednesday in the eighth annual tourney for "boys" at Exmoor, N. L. Hoyt of Indian Hill, one of the youngsters, played sizzling golf and was returned the winner of low gross honors. Hoyt's card showed figures of 39-40-79.

Other prizes went by classes and G. E. Challacombe of Elmhurst topped the list in class D, which means men of 70 and more with a net score of 52. The difference between his age and 55 added to his club handicap gave him a total deduction of 42 from his gross of 94. Second was another Indian Hil veteran of the links, B. F. Cummings, who shot 82-29-53.

consists of 173 acres, which will be divided into some 1,400 lots, and is located west of Lake Bluff. It is bounded by the Chicago and North Western on the east, Dunman on the west, Buckley on the north, and Broadway on the south. F. E. Jameson, representing a syndicate, will be agent for the property.

The Children's Hour

A mother walked into the Children's Hour one Saturday morning. But we let her stay and then asked her if she had been interested.

"Interested? I'm amazed! I have never seen such attention and application given by children-and for three hours! How do you do it?"

The answer is simple. Every child likes to play. And here is study presented from the play angle. Who wouldn't like to draw a gypsy's picture if you had a real, live model and plenty of color, and someone to show you how to do it?

Every Saturday a new problem is given, talked about, worked on and finished. And when the course is over every child has a portfolio that shows his progress—a book of his very own making, to keep!

The EVANSTON ACADEMY OF FINE ARTS

CARL SCHEFFLER, Director

Carlson Building, 636 Church St., Evanston Fall Term Sept. 6

'OLD ORDER PASSETH'

Two Winnetka Landmarks Give Way to March of Progress as Old Home-Sites Are Subdivided

BY OLD TIMER

Two old landmarks, and possibly the last remaining, to bear the hand of progress, recently have been subdivided-the John Kiewik and the John O. Barber places on Church road, Winnetka, and which can be treated as a single unit.

In 1867 a Mr. Baxter owned and lived on the Barber place and had the present house built. His daughter was married to Mr. Deily who bought the land to the south, now owned by Mr. Gren Bay Lawn will be opened as a Kiewik. Here he built a cottage for subdivision on August 13. This property his bride and it was here that George Deily, still a resident of Winnetka, was born. George says he planted the walnut tree in front of the house but will not admit that he also planted the butternut tree, now standing in front on the Barber place. It looks suspicious. He said the house on the Barber place, was built sixty, or more, years ago and Nic Schafehen confirms it. George says it was built for his grandfather Baxter by Mr. Schafehen's step-father, the elder Anton Clifford, that splendid builder, who said he "built by the square because the mitre was not accurate enough." George says the sills are 8x8, handhewn oak, and undressed white pine was used throughout the house. The timber is heavier than is used in the modern home and all is in as perfect condition as though just delivered from the wood-yard.

Mr. Baxter sold the Barber place to a well known minister, Rev. Boynton. There lived Charles, Wilbur and Rose. The latter was a teacher in a Winnetka school. All old timers agree they had many a fine time in the old house and that Boynton carried on a fine truck garden.

Mr. Kiewik bought the Deily place in the early nineties and has remodeled the cottage twice. Subdividing this property, he has laid out a street connecting Church road with the new boulevard. This street he calls Sunset road and, eventually, it will pass under the railroads and connect with Wilson street.

In 1900 Mr. Barber bought the Boynton place and in these twentyseven years, under the supervision of the chatelaine, it gradually grew from a truck garden into a place of beauty akin to a lovely park.

A commuter once said: "I never open my morning paper until I have passed the Barber place."

A new order of things has come. The new, wide street has spoiled the exclusiveness and much of the beauty of the place and it has been subdivided. Lot No. 1 on Church road and lot No. 5 on the boulevard will be retained by Mr. Barber. Lot No. 4 has been purchased by a Mr. Mainard who is to break ground immediately for an expensive brick house.

While we reminisce about the pleasant times we have passed in the old house in the distant past, we have no time for long regret at its passing as an up-to-date age is pressing hard upon us.

SHOWER ON BIRTHDAY

Two birthdays will be celebrated and a shower will be given Thursday afternoon at the John C. Cobb home at 615 Elm street. Miss Margaret Cobb is celebrating her 13th birthday and Miss Marion Fulton celebrates her birthday, which falls August 14. A miscellaneous shower, honoring Miss Fulton, will be given by the thirty guests.