To Enriched Life

ALWAYS, the ideal class has been the small class wherein youth with its eagerness rubs elbows with the wisdom and knowledge of an older teacher.

In the study of art this is especially true. And here at the Academy close personal supervision is used to inspire and to guide but never to hamper.

A modern school needs extensive laboratories and adequate equipment. It needs fine teachers and hard application on the part of its students.

At the end of our instruction lies an increased earning ability, it is true, but better still there lies the certainty that life has been enriched by the practicing contact with living art.

Our doors are open to anyone who wants to see us at work or work with us in the creation of beautiful things.

Scouts Receive Merit Awards at Camp Honor Court

In the evening of the final day of Camp Checaugau near Whitehall, Mich., a mammoth Court of Honor was held around a blazing campfire. Participating in this Court of Honor were over ninety Scouts of Chicago and the north shore suburbs. Fifteen second class badges were awarded, seven to north shore Scouts. Eight first class badges were presented, two to north shore Scouts. Four boys, including two from Highland Park were awarded the Cabin Boy badge, the first rank in Sea-Scouting; and 218 Merit Badges were awarded forty-nine of which went to north shore Scouts.

The awards made to north shore Scouts are listed below:

Second Class Scout—Raymond Bartlemann—Troop 22, Glencoe; Jack Brandl—Troop 24, Hubbard Woods; Sidley Chapman—Troop 33, Highland Park; Robert Johnston—Troop 33, Highland Park; Parker Johnston—Troop 33, Highland Park; Phillip Meyer—Troop 61, Northbrook, and Lowell Mueller—Troop 61, Northbrook.

First Class Scout—Edgar Haight—Troop 22, Glencoe, and Sidley Chapman—Troop 33, Highland Park.

Cabin Boy—Edward Loewenstein—Troop 31, Highland Park, and Walfred Miller—Troop 32, Highland Park.

Merit Badges—John Betak—Troop 22, Glencoe—Camping, Canoeing. Cameron Brown—Troop 22, Glencoe—Athletics, Life Saving, Personal Health. Brainerd Chapman—Troop 31, Highland Park—Athletics, Leathercraft, Life Saving, Pioneering, Canoeing, Woodwork. Sidley Chapman—Troop 33, Highland Park—Cooking, Life Saving, Personal Health, Swimming, and Woodwork. William Clore—Scoutmaster Troop 61, Northbrook—Canoeing. Robert Crawford—Troop 2, Wilmette—Camping, Safety. B. C. Draper—Assistant Executive—Botany, Canoeing, Edgar Haight—Troop 22, Glencoe—Bugling. Donald Hughes—Troop 22, Glencoe—Athletics, Life Saving. Parker Johnston—Troop 33, Highland Park—Leathercraft, Personal Health, and Safety. Edward Loewenstein—Troop 31, Highland Park—Bugling, Leather Working, Canoeing, and Seamanship. Phillip Meyer—Troop 61, Northbrook—Safety. Walfred Miller—Troop 32, Highland Park—Life Saving, Seamanship. Lowell Mueller—Troop 61, Northbrook—Safety. Robert Phelps—Troop 32, Highland Park—Pathfinding, Personal Health, and Safety. Walter Roberts—Troop 21, Glencoe—Safety. Leonard Simon—Troop 21, Glencoe—Leathercraft, Pioneering. Philip Swabacker—Troop 3, Winnetka—Athletics, Life Saving, Swimming. Morton Traub, Jr.—Troop 31 Highland Park—Camping, Leather Working, and Seamanship. Burton French—Troop 22, Glencoe—Art, Cooking.

A Court of Honor will be held at Highland Park, Monday, September 12, at which time badges will be awarded that were earned outside of Camp as many Scouts passed tests either at home or at camps other than Scout camps and the Court of Honor above mentioned was only for Scouts at Camp Checaugau.

Encounter Coolidge Party at Yellowstone Hotels

Stopping at two Yellowstone Park hotels during the visits of President Coolidge's party there, and seeing "Lucky" Lindbergh at Denver were incidents of the western trip from which Mr. and Mrs. William H. Scott, 1022 Davis street, returned Saturday evening.

The Scotts encountered a cloudburst in Wyoming, near Cooper, where their train was stalled for several hours. They were at the Lake Hotel and the Canyon while the Coolidge party were there and met them at various other points in the park.
