Purple Navy Will Have Own Quarters on Campus

Northwestern university's navy will have quarters of its own on the Evanston campus this year. Final touches are now being given the new brick building put up for the sailors, which will be ready for them by Monday.

The naval reserve officers' training corps at Northwestern was established last year along with those at Yale, Harvard and Georgia Tech on the Atlantic coast. Northwestern is the only university between the Atlantic and Pacific coasts having such a corps.

Sixty freshmen were enrolled in the course in naval science and tactics last year. With perhaps seventy more enrolling this year, it was realized that additional room would be needed for the university's rapidly growing navy and its equipment. But all available room was occupied.

The Board of Trustees of the university at a meeting August 19 decided that a navy building was necessary. The contract was awarded at once and the next day carpenters and masons were at work.

Robert Atwood, son of the Burton Atwoods, is choosing a novel way of returning for his next year at Clark university, Worcester, Mass. He left Winnetka Thursday on his motorcycle, expecting to make the trip in about four days.

Mr. and Mrs. George B. Everitt of 1035 Dinsmore road left Saturday for the Lake Placid club in the Adirondacks, to spend the week there. They will return by way of New York City, and are expected home this week-end.

The R. A. Aishton family has returned from Culver, Ind., and are now at home at 383 Sunset road. They had been at Culver since June.

Health Officers to Meet in Conference at Springfield Soon

Local health officers will have the whip handle at a conference with state and federal health authorities in Springfield on October 13, according to an announcement made this week by Dr. Isaac D. Rawlings, state health director. The state and federal experts will offer theoretical solutions for problems that local officers have encountered at home while the latter will be loaded with practical experience to weigh against proposals advanced.

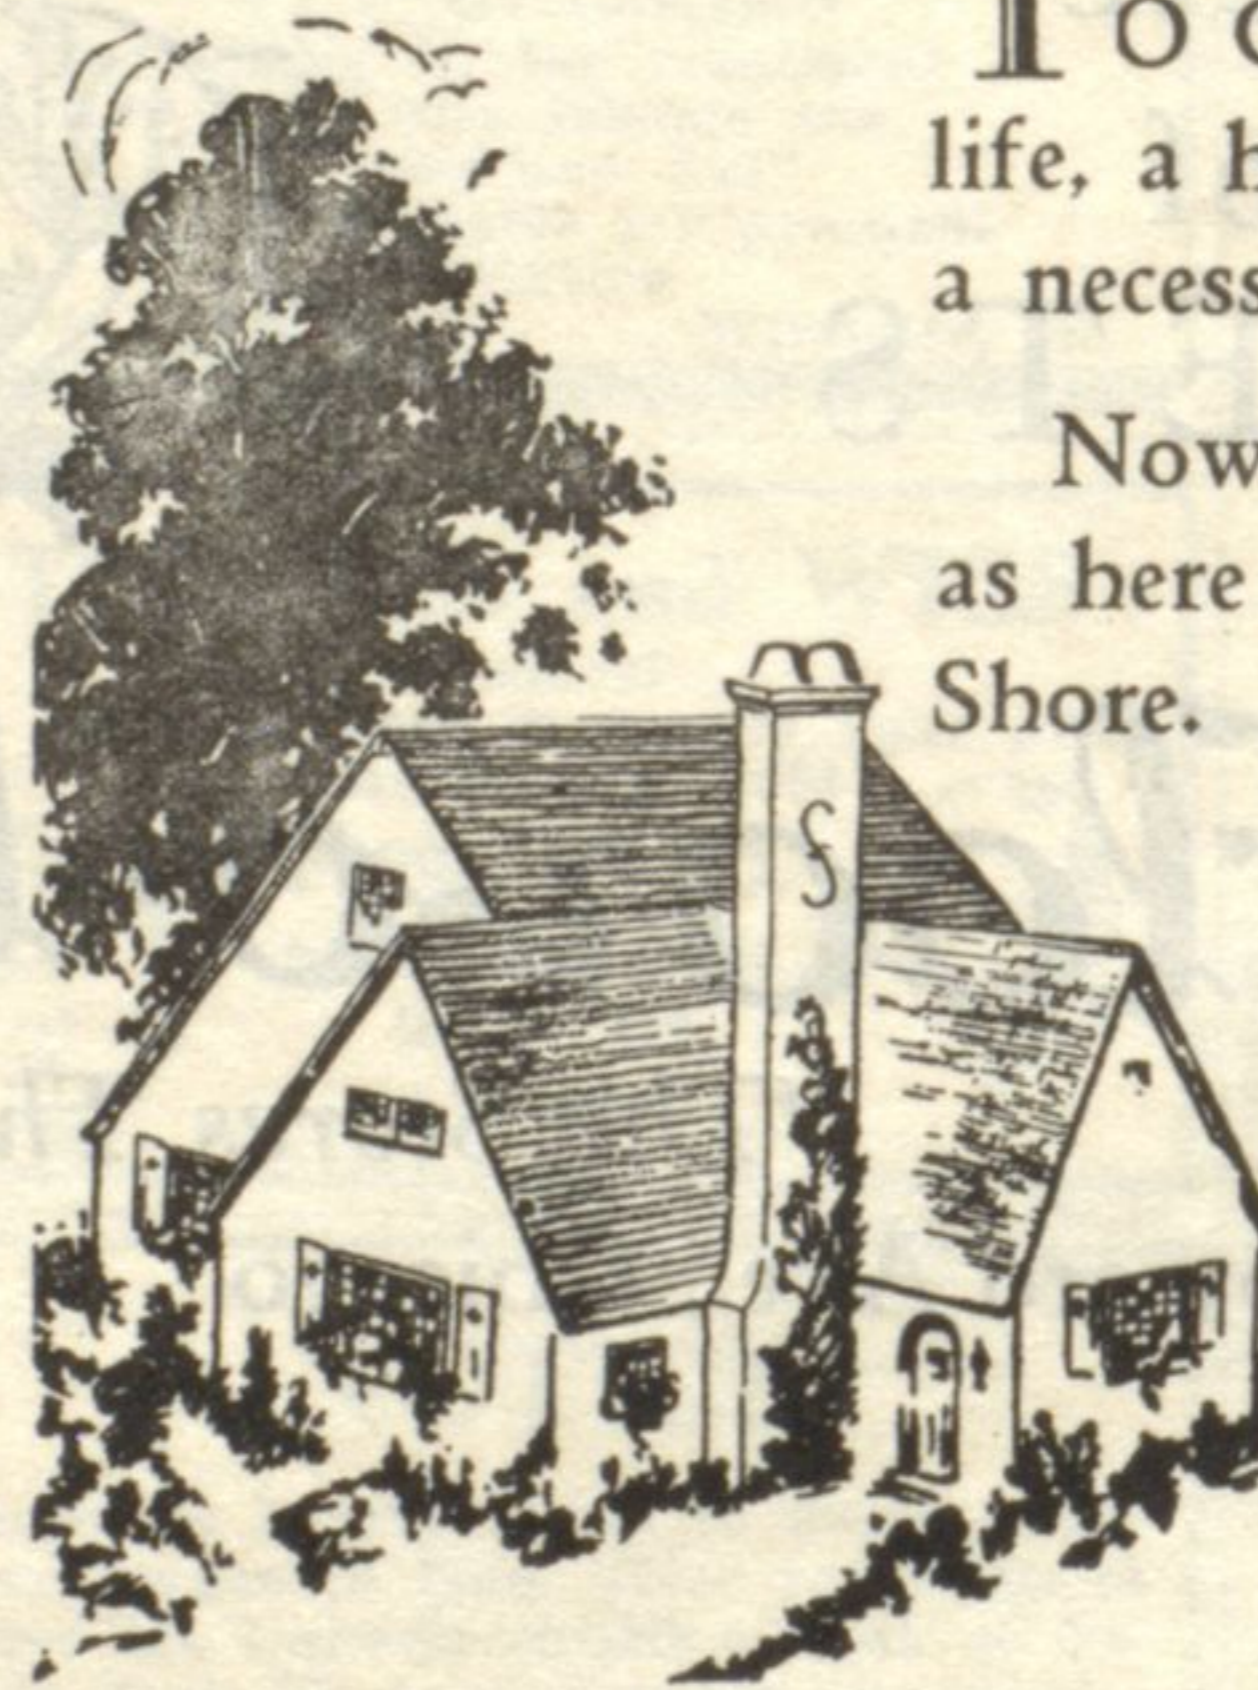

The three-day session, which approximately opens at the very beginning of the epidemic season, will combine the annual health officers conference with a program celebrating the achievements of half a century of public health service in the state. Prominent speakers including Governor Small, Dr. Haven Emmerson, former health commissioner of New York; Dr. W. A. Evans, former health commissioner of Chicago; Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, former president of the American Medical association; Dr. Edward Francis of the U. S. Hygienic Laboratory at Washington; Dr. John A. Ferrel, of the International health board and others are scheduled to be on hand.

Mr. and Mrs. Caleb A. Busick of 428 Chestnut street have sent out announcements of the marriage on Saturday evening, September 3, of their daughter, Alyce, to Earl Rex Mount of Urbana, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mount of Mount Vernon, Ill. The young couple have taken an apartment in Edgewater.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Mount have studied at the University of Illinois, and Mr. Mount has lately been connected with the University as a horticulturist.
