

Skokie Valley Area Scene of Remarkable Industrial Growth

Remarkable industrial development along the Skokie Valley route of the North Shore line is shown by a survey just completed under the direction of D. H. Howard, construction engineer of the railroad.

Fifteen large concerns dealing in coal, lumber and building materials have located their yards on the new line, requiring a total of 37,154 feet of industrial siding and team tracks, or more than seven miles of single track.

The North Shore line, whose revenues in the past have been derived largely from passenger traffic, is going after carload freight business in earnest. Joint tariffs have been arranged with steam railroads and physical connections with the Milwaukee and St. Paul railway have been made at Rondout. The company is now arranging its tracks to exchange carload freight with the St. Paul railroad at Howard street in Chicago and distribute it along the Skokie Valley or turn it over to the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern railroad, the transfer line for all steam railroads in the Chicago district.

Call North Shore Beauties to Model at Shoe Exhibit

North shore beauties will have an opportunity early next January to participate in the footwear fashion show in connection with the 17th national convention of the National Shoe Retailers' association in the Stevens hotel, Chicago, January 9, 10, 11 and 12. Ten thousand representatives from all parts of the country and from all branches of the shoe and leather industries will attend the convention. Managers of the footwear fashion show have decided to use north side girls to model the latest style shoes. Youth, beauty and "pep" will count most in selecting the models, who will draw large salaries, it is explained. Headquarters of the association are maintained at 224 S. Michigan ave.
