

Name "Pro" Soon for Golf Course of Breakers Club

Selection of a "pro" to direct the new golf division of the Breakers Beach club, exclusive north shore business men's organization, will be made shortly, J. E. Roy, president, announced this week.

The golf division will have an eighteen-hole and a nine-hole golf course ready for play in the spring. The property is on Waukegan road, fifteen minutes from the clubhouse at Wilmette. An additional eighteen-hole course will be constructed in the spring with bridle paths and several batteries of tennis courts. As a feature, also, the country home now there is being converted into a modern clubhouse.

The golf courses are being laid out by Leonard Macomber one of the best known architects in the country. He built the Mission Hills Country club, the Biltmore Country club, the Poland Country club of Youngstown, and many others. Assisting him is Benjamin J. Gage, who planned the Wilmette park system, and designed Skokie Heights and the Knoll Wood Golf club.

The Breakers Beach club has a membership of 3,000 prominent business men in Chicago, with a majority living in Wilmette, Evanston, Winnetka, Highland Park and Lake Forest. The first unit of the clubhouse, which is to be a twelve-story structure, will soon be open. The property has a frontage of 353 feet on the lake.

Mrs. Rowland Hale of Sewanee, Tenn., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Randolph Buck, of 1290 Scott avenue.

Harry P. Harrison of 306 Abbottsford road, Kenilworth, will soon be familiarly known among his many north shore acquaintances as "Colonel Harry," for that's his new title, representing a distinction accorded him by Gov. William J. Fields of Kentucky. Colonel Harrison received this signal honor in recognition of his valuable services to the people of Kentucky in his capacity as manager of the Redpath Chautauqua. He has provided Chautauqua programs for fifty or more Kentucky cities for 14 years.
