

FETE FOR EDUCATOR

Faculty of Senn High School Pays Farewell Tribute to Charles S. Jewell Upon Retirement

By Observer

On Friday, September 30, a group of friends from the Nicholas Senn High school, gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Jewell at 459 Provident avenue, to felicitate Mr. Jewell upon the occasion of his retirement from the Senn faculty.

The occasion called forth memories connected with Mr. Jewell's many years of service. His work covered experience in private as well as in public schools during which time he taught practically all the subjects in the curriculum. But he will be especially remembered for the scholarly way in which he organized the science department and chose the equipment of the laboratories when Nicholas Senn High school opened.

His distinguished scholarship and punctilious performance of all his duties as teacher set a standard that has not been surpassed. Like Abraham Lincoln, Mr. Jewell possesses unusual ability in telling an apt story and finding the humorous reply; which quality has, these many years, endeared him to his pupils and fellow teachers.

Benjamin F. Buck, principal of Senn High school, on behalf of the teachers and as a memento of their appreciation and association of many years presented Mr. Jewell with a rare work on astronomy, which is one of his avocations, and Mrs. Jewell with a silver flower bowl.

Coffee, ice cream and cake were served which completed the basket supper brought by the guests. The house was a bower of flowers from Mrs. Jewell's garden.

After much pleasant visiting the friends left, almost begrudging Mr. Jewell his well-earned leisure to carry on the many and varied interests which will certainly give pleasure to one devoted for so many years to routine and detail.

Expenditures for public schools are the highest city expenses in Illinois.

Little Phillip Peterson of Kenilworth, who has been so very ill for a long time, is to be brought home from the hospital some day the latter part of this week. He is now much improved in health.
