What Chickens!

—With Surprising New Deliciousness

Here is chicken specially raised for good eating. All the science of chicken breeding and feeding is used to make these chickens tender, meaty and full flavored. To eat them is to know a new joy in your favorite food for these are really a new kind of chicken—as different from ordinary chicken as good, old-fashioned, home-made pie is from factory made.

WAPSIE VALLEY CHICKEN

Such chickens can only come from one place—from the very heart of America's poultry country—from the rich, fertile farm lands of Iowa. Here the Wapsie Valley Chickens are carefully raised and scientifically fed. When ideal for eating they are individually dressed, dry picked. Never are they allowed to soak in water. They are all chicken from start to finish. Separately wrapped in clean white parchment paper, crated and shipped direct to your dealer, and to the famous club and restaurant kitchens of the world.
