

Meltzer Music School Offers Fine Training

Fifty pupils have enrolled in the classes conducted in Wilmette and Winnetka by the Meltzer School of Music of which Edward J. Meltzer is director.

Mr. Meltzer has studied the cornet and trumpet with such well-known teachers as Edward Llewellyn, the first trumpet of the Chicago Symphony orchestra; Herbert Clarke, for many years the cornet soloist of the Sousa band; Allesandro Liberati, famous soloist; F. N. Innes, renowned bandmaster; Harry Jacobs, mouthpiece specialist; and Del Staigers, soloist of Goldman's band and the Victor Phonograph company. Although the methods of playing all the brass instruments are generally considered essentially the same, he has also done special work on the French horn with Max Pottag of the Chicago Symphony orchestra; trombone with Jaroslav Cimera, soloist of the Innes and Kryl bands; the euphonium with Simone Mantia, soloist with Pryor's band.

His studies of the clarinet and saxophone were begun with John Carney who was formerly a member of Sousa's band and continued with Val Hinrichs, the first clarinetist of the Denver Symphony orchestra. The fact that he has spent the past two summers in New York studying band arranging has afforded him an opportunity to study the clarinet with Gustav Langenus, who is perhaps the greatest living teacher and authority on his instrument, and the saxophone with Jascha Gurewich, whom Mr. Sousa considers the greatest saxophone soloist his band has ever had.

WELLESLEY MEETING FRIDAY

The North Shore Wellesley circle met Friday afternoon, October 14, at the home of Miss Ruth and Miss Muriel Hypes, 1126 Michigan avenue, Evanston. Mrs. K. D. Gardner, Mrs. Henry Webster and Mrs. E. R. MacLaren were co-hostesses. Miss Elizabeth Kendall was the speaker and because the circle had the unexpected opportunity to hear her speak, the meeting day was changed.

Mrs. Enos M. Barton has returned to her home in Hubbard Woods after several months abroad.

CONCERT TICKETS ON SALE

The New Trier Orchestral association presents its concerts for the sixth season. Tickets for the series have been selling rapidly in Kenilworth, so thoroughly these concerts have been enjoyed in the past. The concerts on Monday afternoons for children are especially popular and the tickets are being sold at the Joseph Sears school. Performances are scheduled for November 14, December 5, February 6, and March 1. Evening concerts occur on these dates, but include an additional concert on January 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Archibald T. Naugle, who spent the summer in Winnetka, are sailing for Naples November 1. They plan to spend the holidays at Cairo, Egypt.

Open Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday Nights
