

Girls' Club Will Give Bridge Party to Raise Money

By C. B.

One of the largest and most worthy clubs at New Trier and perhaps the least known among the general public, is the Girls' club. Every girl, as soon as she enters New Trier, automatically becomes a member of the club and is entitled to take part in its activities.

The club, during the school year, raises large sums of money, which are put to many worthy purposes.

The means of raising these funds are varied, the most popular being by the sale of "hot dogs" and candy at football games, candy at dramatic productions, and usually a big bazaar at Christmas time. However, instead of a bazaar this year the club plans to hold a large bridge party where there also will be several tables with articles on sale. If the first bridge party is a success, a second one will be held later in the year.

The purposes for which this money is raised are almost as varied as the means. Each year the club offers several scholarships, usually one of $300 and two of $150 (the number depending on the amount of money raised that year), to girls who are worthy of them and unable to finance their way through high school and college. At the end of her college career, when she is able, the girl returns this amount to the club and it is used again in the same manner.

Each year, also, the club buys a painting and gives it to the school. Four of these pictures now hang in the front corridor of the building and are very attractive. These paintings are: "The Sand Dunes," by Allen Philbrick; "Lure of the Woodland," by J. A. Spelman; "New Hampshire," by Karl Buehr; and "On the Sea Shore," by Henry Allbright.

Under the supervision of Miss Murphy and the club's president, Jane Burrill, the club already has begun its work, which it expects to improve as time goes on.

Kenilworth Motor Cop Hurt in Crash With Car

Motorcycle policeman Edgar Fellows of the Kenilworth police department suffered severe abrasions and cuts about the head and body in a collision with an automobile driven by W. W. Doer, Kenilworth pharmacist, at the intersection of Kenilworth avenue and Sheridan road last Friday.

Fellows was pursuing a speeding motorist on Sheridan road at the time of the accident and was traveling at about 60 miles an hour, it was said. Mr. Doer was making a left turn into Kenilworth avenue from Sheridan road and neither driver observed the other until it was too late to avoid the crash. Fellows was rushed to the Evanston hospital where it was learned that no bones were broken. He is rapidly recovering from his injuries and expects to be riding the "bike" again within a few days.

PLEGDED TO FRATERNITY

Two Wilmette college men, Stanley Abramson and Walter Neubacher, freshmen at Beloit college, Beloit, Wis., have been pledged to Sigma Chi fraternity there.

Ralph Edinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Edinger of 627 Garland avenue, Winnetka has just returned from the Evanston hospital where he had his tonsils removed.
