

Cakes!
Rolls!
Bread!

—And other delicacies, all characterized by SMITH'S freshness and tastiness.

WHETHER for afternoon callers, breakfast or the evening meal or for hungry children our bakery goods are universally enjoyed.

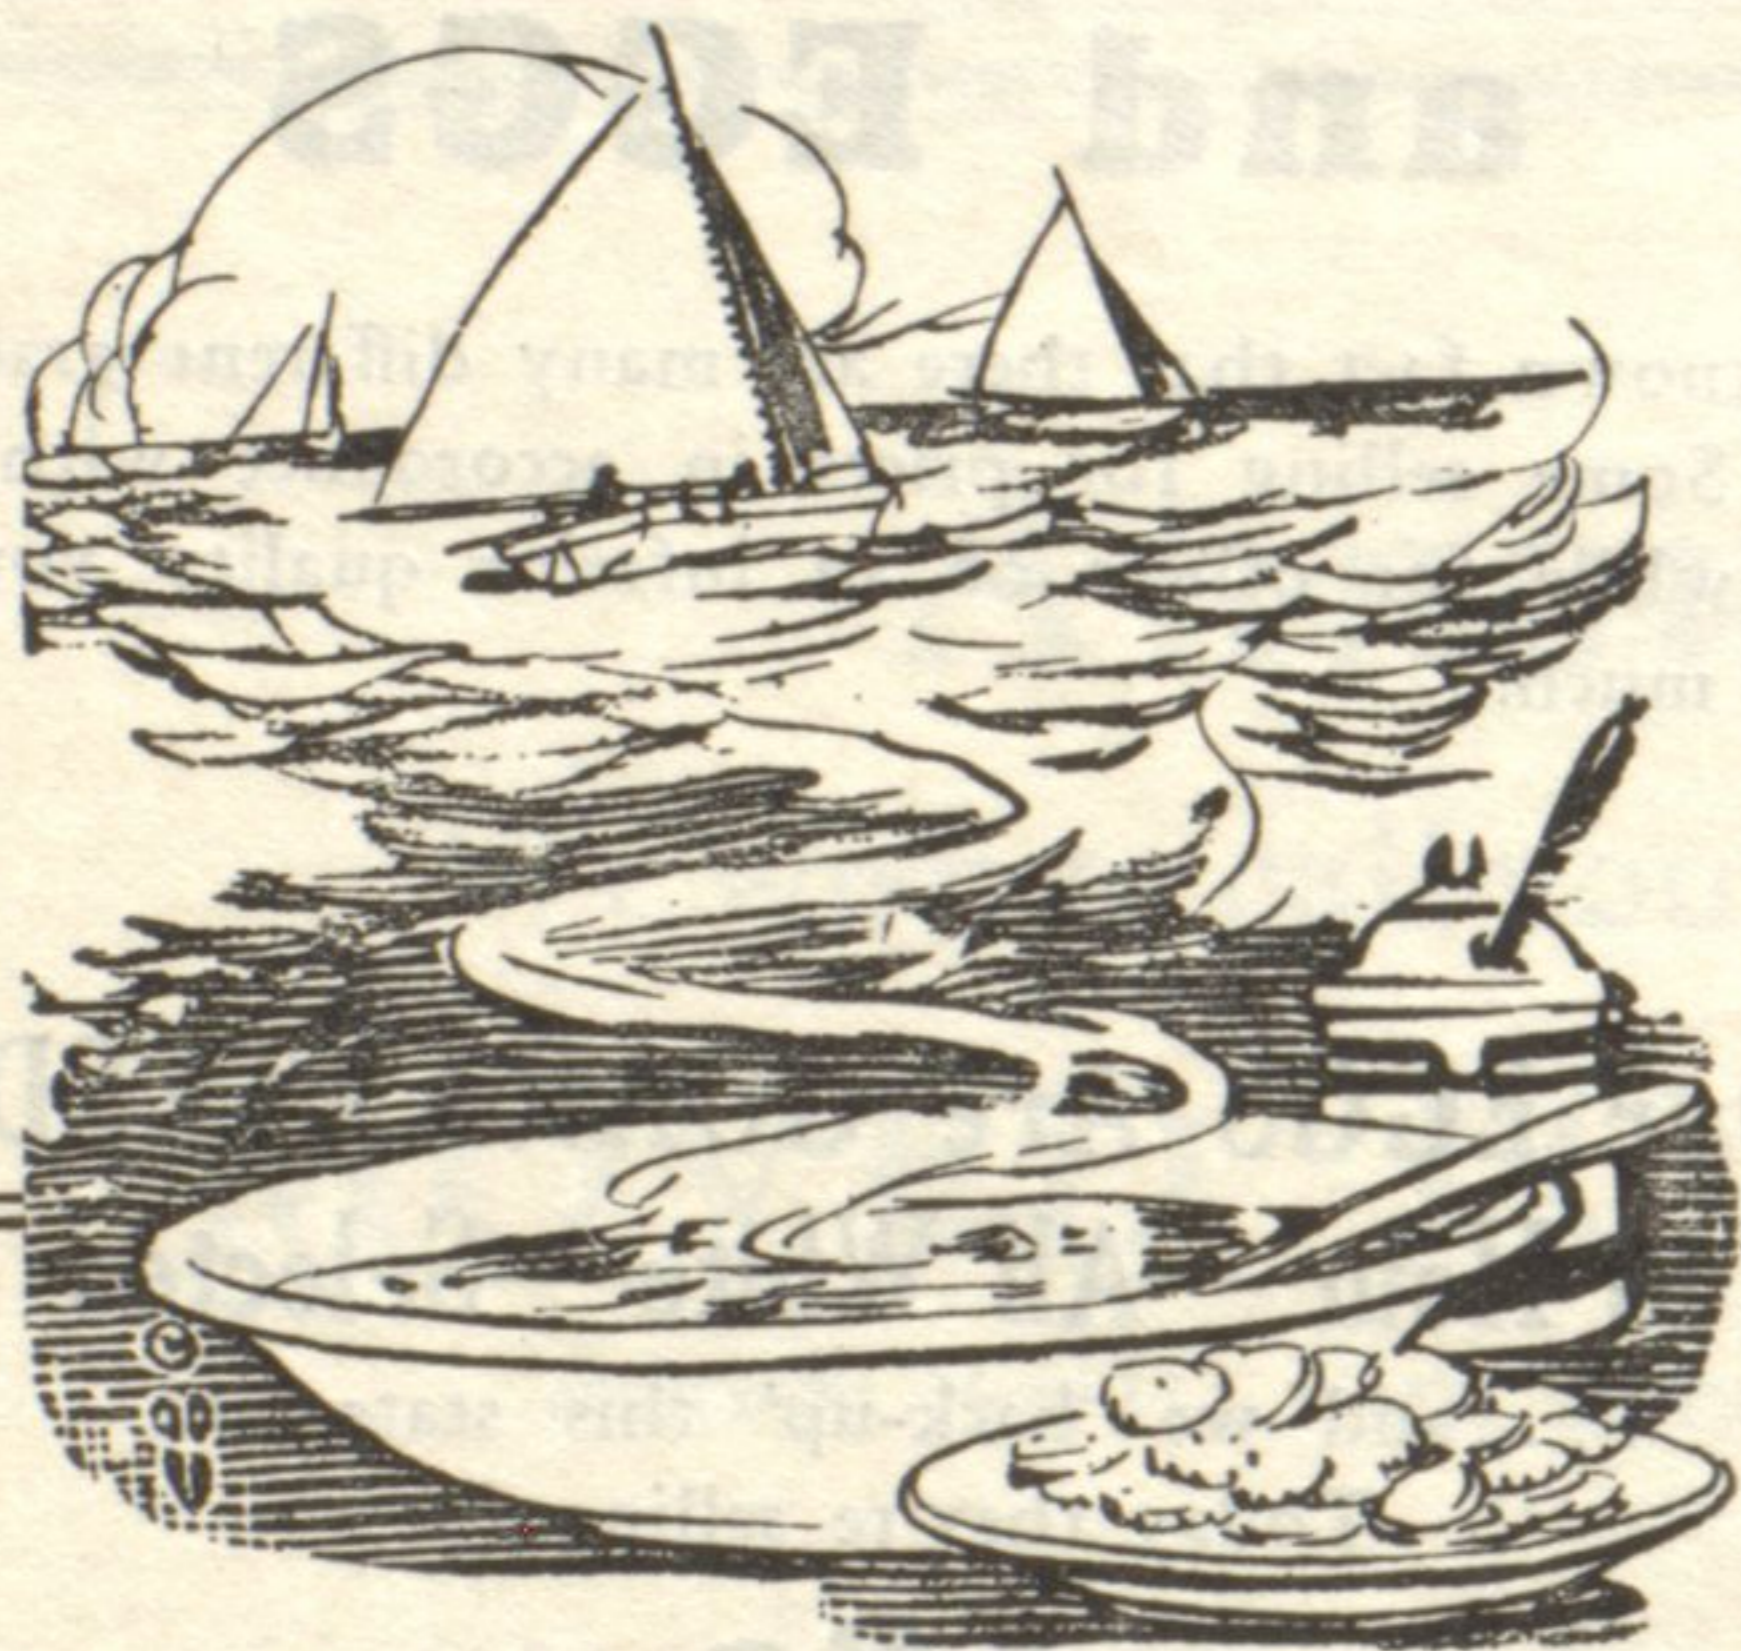

We deliver free

OPEN SUNDAYS 9-12; 4-6

Smith's Delicatessen

819 OAK STREET

PHONE 112

Oyster Stew
To-night—Folks!

IF you want to put the family's appetite on edge for dinner tonight, just make the above "mouth-watering" announcement. And when the time comes, what a rush there'll be for the dinner table with choruses of "Where is it?" and "When do we eat?"

For, really, there's nothing tastier than meaty, Flavoury Oysters served in hot milk with a lump of butter, salt and pepper for seasoning!

Peters' Market

Meats of Quality

734 Elm Street

Phones 920-21-22

Howell Chosen as Post Commander by American Legion

Winnetka post No. 10, American Legion, at its meeting Monday evening, elected officers for the ensuing year; made final arrangements for mounting, on Armistice day, one of the German war trophy cannons in the village commons; completed all details for the annual Armistice dinner that evening at Wheeling, and went over the part the post will take in the dedication of the soldier war memorial, on November 13.

The officers elected will be installed November 21. E. G. Howell will head the post the coming year, as commander, Dr. Frank W. Blatchford retiring.

The war trophy cannon which has been stored for the past year in the village material yard was taken to the commons Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock, the post acting as an escort, accompanied by its new drum corps, which made its first public appearance at this time.

In the evening the post attended its annual Armistice day dinner, at Wheeling.

The eight members of the new drum corps which has been making rapid progress since its organization a few months ago, are Robert Melaney, Harold Voltz, Charles Dehmow, Dr. Frank N. Woods, Willis Erne, F. Chapman, Will Carter and A. Lee Adams. The instructor is Edward B. Straight of Chicago, a recognized leader in his profession, in the United States.

The new post officers elected Monday evening follow: E. G. Howell, commander; Lincoln Rogers, first vice-commander; Robert Melaney, second vice-commander; Frederick Chapman, adjutant; J. Endicott Bradstreet, historian; William H. King, Jr., judge advocate; Willis Erne, sergeant-at-arms; Harold Voltz, service officer; Rev. Thomas A. Goodwin, chaplain; Irwin Hale, finance officer.

Illinois ranks second of the states in the number of electric light and power customers.

INTRIGUE DOMINATES
"INSIDE THE LINES"

New Trier Dramatic Club Production to Be Staged in Auditorium November 19

By Marjorie Braymer

"Yes—yes! Number 1932. The seal of the Wilhelmstrasse. Good! They have told me of your coming, Number 1932."

Thus speaks Joseph Almer, played by Bob Spiegel, to Captain Woodhouse, agent number 1932, in reality John Iliff. At last, after years of waiting for the arrival of Woodhouse, success is nearly his! The agents of the great German Secret Service, the Wilhelmstrasse, almost—almost in entire power! He continues excitedly.

"Captain Woodhouse, almost any day now England's greatest fleet—more than forty ships—will put in here on its way to the Black Sea. We shall see them coming to anchor in the bay, lying there with their flags flying, safe, secure."

Then softly, exultantly:

Thrills Aplenty

"Our big moment—it is close. Listen. Room D, that is the room. From there every mine in the harbor can be exploded in ten seconds."

Indeed, with men stationed in the very heart of England's seemingly impregnable fortress, how could the careful plans of the Wilhelmstrasse fail? What could prevent their destruction of the fleet? What was to hinder their getting absolute control of the sea? In the play "Inside the Lines," which New Trier students will give Saturday, the nineteenth of this month, the innermost workings of this vast organization are revealed. The fate of the British ships rests in the hands of Captain Woodhouse, agent number 1932, who is on the Rock of Gibraltar as an English officer.

Moving silently through the play is the mysterious figure of Jaimihr Khan, servant of the government general. Just who he is and what his part is in the story will be unfolded in the play. Rollin Simmons is playing the Hindu.

Not All Serious

But not everything is so serious. In direct contrast to the rest of the play are the members of the Henry J. Sherman family, father, mother, and daughter Kitty, who comment with characteristic small-town American naiveté on the situation in which they find themselves. Their chief concern is to return to Kewanee and the States.

Rehearsals of the play are now going on under the direction of Mr. Gordon Van Kirk, and students are working to make the evening of Saturday, November 19, one to look forward to.

Winnetka League of Women Voters Meets November 21

Because of the State convention, which is being held at Peoria, Ill., next week, the Winnetka League of Women Voters has been forced to change the date of the regular monthly luncheon meeting to Monday, November 21. Mrs. Ernest S. Ballard, chairman of the International Relations committee, will be in charge of the meeting. As a feature of the program the prizes which were won by the block captains in the recent membership drive will be presented by Mrs. George Suker, membership committee chairman.

Memberships, both renewals and new ones, are still being received by Mrs. Suker and over 100 memberships have been added to the number previously recorded during the past week. The membership now totals nearly 1,400.

For the Holiday Table!

MUMS

All colors 50c a bunch
Single Blooms, dozen...$2
Potted Plants$1
Sweet Peas, bunch50c

Frank Borovicka

Florist

748 CENTER STREET

PHONE WINNETKA 283