

*Little Symphony Orchestra Presents
First Concert of Season November 14*

The first of the current season's Little Symphony concerts, George Dasch, director, held under auspices of the New Trier Orchestral association, will be given in the New Trier auditorium Monday evening, November 14. There is to be a Children's concert at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon, while the evening program begins at 8:15 o'clock.

In the afternoon concert the orchestra will appear with Miss Maria Matyas, youthful soprano, as soloist. A sketch of this amazingly talented girl is to be found on the Music page of this issue.

The program for the evening concert has been selected by Mr. Dasch with a view to displaying the entire orchestra. The single departure from this arrangement will be the obligato violin solo in the Prelude to "The Deluge," by Saint-Saens, played by Herman Felber, concert-master of the Little Symphony.
