

Tropic-Aire Hot Water Auto Heater

"For those who don't go South"

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Motorist:

What arrangements have you made to drive with comfort and safety during the winter months?

With a Tropic-Aire Hot Water Heater installed in your car tropical heat is quickly available. And, with this delightful comfort, there is absolute safety.

The complete absence of deadly carbon monoxide gases, common to most types of heaters, makes the Tropic-Aire Heater essential. This new system of vehicle heat is in no way connected with the exhaust or manifold of your car.

This unit is directly connected to and is a part of the water circulating system of the car engine—the last part of the car to cool off, which assures driving comfort in the most severe weather.

The air is circulated by a small fan in the hot water radiator which is conveniently placed on the inside of the car under the cowl. Speed of fan controlled by simple switch located on instrument board, which assures air within car at desired temperature.

You have all the comfort of modern home heating in your car—absolute safety—sanitary atmosphere—no escaping gases or fumes—no scorched nor soiled clothing—constant air circulation—desired warmth regardless of speed—simple control.

It is far in advance of any heater ever put on the market and it is absolutely guaranteed.

Let us make your winter driving a pleasure.

Easily installed on any make of car

Traces Man's Story

Fay-Cooper Cole, professor of anthropology, University of Chicago, will trace the story of prehistoric man from the time of his appearance to the dawn of recorded history, in two lectures, the first to be given Wednesday, Nov. 16, and the second the following Wednesday, at 2 p.m. in Commerce hall, Northwestern university. He will discuss the various types of fossil man with associated plant and animal life, and will then turn to evidences of man's culture from his first crude attempts to fashion flint implements up to the discovery of metals. The second lecture will be devoted to various theories advanced to account for man's

New Trier Instructors to Address Teachers' Meeting

Two members of the New Trier High school faculty, F. B. Peers, journalism teacher, and Donald Frisbie of the social science department, will speak before sectional sessions of the State High School conference which is to be held at the University of Illinois in Urbana Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week.

Mr. Peers will speak before the journalism section of the conference Friday afternoon on the subject "A Course in Journalistic Writing." Mr. Frisbie will also speak Friday afternoon and will address the social science section on the subject "Tests: Various Kinds and Objects of Tests."

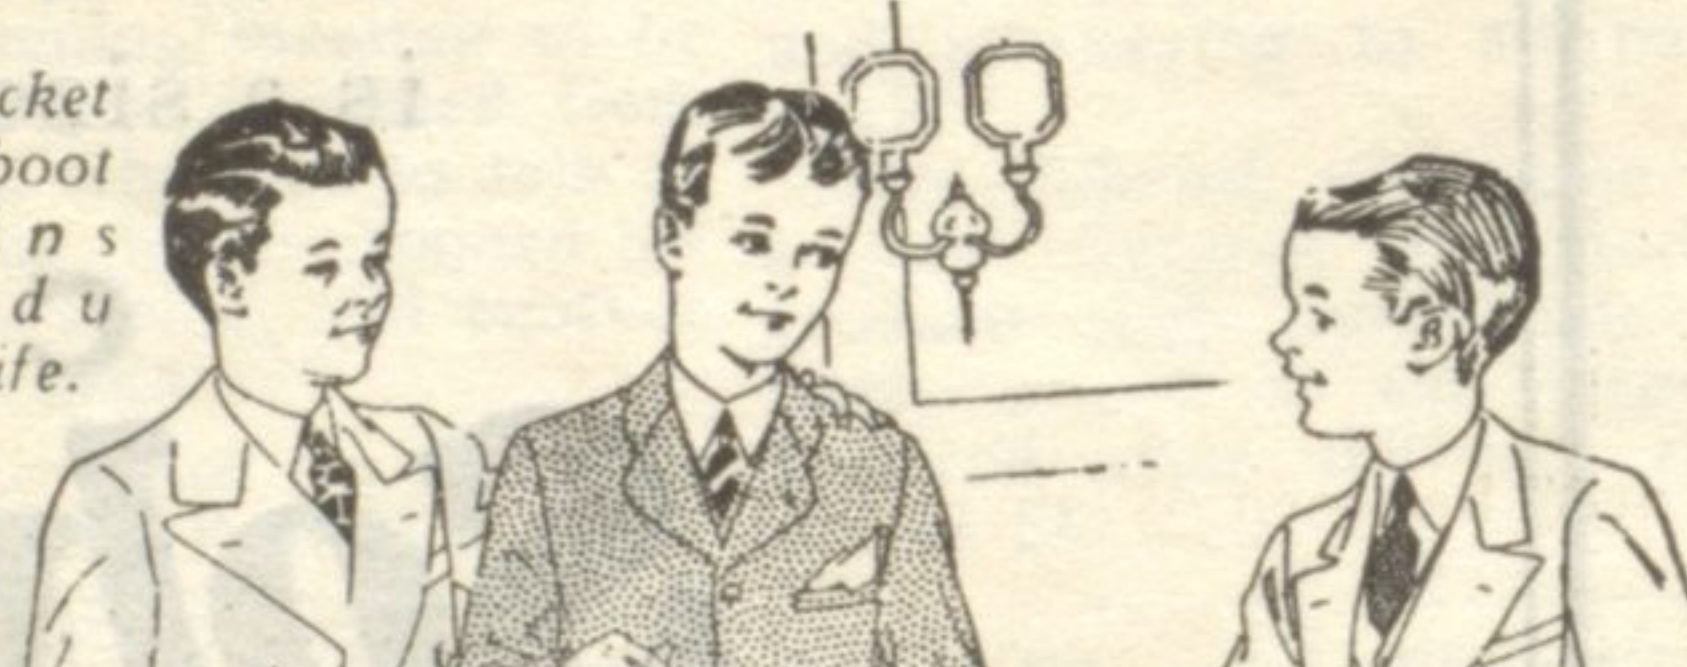

The conference is an annual affair and will be attended by members of the faculties of all of the high schools in this state. Many educators of prominence, among them professors from the Universities of Illinois and Chicago and Indiana university and superintendents and teachers from high schools throughout Illinois, and representatives of industrial organizations will address the conference.
