Alfred Wallenstein Is on Kenilworth Club Program

This evening the Kenilworth club presents Alfred Wallenstein, 'cellist, assisted by Virginia Wilson Wallenstein, pianist. This is the first concert entertainment of the season for the club, which has already offered its members an unusual number of delightful card parties and dances.

Alfred Wallenstein is one of the most remarkable exponents of violin-cello playing in America. A pupil of the celebrated 'cellist, Julius Klengel, he has achieved a reputation for artistry equal to that of his master. The outstanding features of his playing are a warmth and beauty of tone that are seldom heard on the concert stage, and a brilliancy of execution that is found only in performers of the highest rank. Mr. Wallenstein is first 'cellist of the Chicago Symphony orchestra and for several seasons has appeared as soloist at its concerts with brilliant success.

Friday, November 25, a dinner dance will be given.
