

Foundation Will Aid St. Francis Hospital Growth

The Foundation for St. Francis hospital held a business and social meeting last Wednesday afternoon in the Nurses' home of the hospital. A report was made indicating that the membership drive has progressed to the point where letters have been sent out to all who might be interested in joining, offering anyone of four kinds of membership: individual, club, sustaining, or life. The members decided to have four club meetings a year, coming in September, December, February, and April. These will be held at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon on the third Wednesday of the months indicated. The board will meet once each month, on the third Wednesday at one o'clock. The annual meeting will be held in the spring.

Mrs. Frederick McLaughlin of Rogers Park will be program chairman, it was announced.

The by-laws were read and accepted by the members. They will be submitted to the Secretary of State, in order to secure a charter for the organization.

The Rev. Father Deneen, who was to have spoken, was unable to remain, so the only speaker of the afternoon was Dr. I. H. Chilcott of the hospital's staff of surgeons. He spoke on the progress of hospitals in the past twenty-five years, more particularly since 1912, when the American College of Surgeons was organized. This organization aimed for standardization of hospitals. Dr. Chilcott emphasized the supremacy of North American hospitals over those of the rest of the world. He gave many reasons for our large number of hospitals. Some men establish hospitals as business propositions, some build them as monuments, and some are built for charity. He pointed out that hospitals are of two types—open and closed. An open hospital is one to which any well-qualified doctor can bring his patients. A closed hospital is one run by only a few men. St. Francis is of the open type. Dr. Chilcott ended his talk with a statement of present imperative needs at St. Francis hospital.

Over 125 boys are now enrolled in the Kenilworth Community center boys' class which are held every Monday and Thursday, it was stated by Robert W. Townley who has charge of the Boys' work. The class is now completely organized and the members are evidencing a great amount of interest in the work. In addition there are 45 scouts who meet with Mr. Townley each Wednesday.

The girls classes are going correspondingly well. There are about 85 girls enrolled in the class work which is conducted each Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday. The general supervision of the Community Center is directed by Mrs. Jessy J. Page.

"Skeezix" Creator Escorts Scouts Through New Plant

Col. Louis Waefelaer and his Boy Scout Troop No. 23, Glencoe, were guests of Frank King, the cartoonist, and "Skeezix," at the Chicago Tribune Friday evening.

Mr. King lives in Glencoe, where all the boys know "Skeezix" and where Mr. King is particularly interested in all the boys of the village.

The Scouts met at St. Elisabeth's Parish House at 7:30 from whence they were driven to the Tribune Tower, where Mr. King escorted them through the plant.
