Country Day Grid Champs Receive Gold Footballs

Members of the North Shore Country Day school football team were guests of their fathers at a dinner held at the Indian Hill club Wednesday, November 23. Arnold Horween, head football coach at Harvard university, was the guest of honor at the dinner and gave a talk on football.

Following Mr. Horween's address each member of the Country Day school team was presented with a miniature gold football in recognition of the successful season which has just been completed, the Country Day school team having won all of its games.

Glencoe Children Swell Gym Funds by Prune Selling

The prune sale, proceeds from which are to help the Boy Scout work and gymnasium activities in the parish of St. Elisabeth's church, Glencoe, is going merrily on.

Three tons of this fine fruit, direct from the famous Santa Clara Valley, Cal., have already been sold by the members of Boy Scout troop 23 and other children of the parish.

Orville Simpson, who this year, as last, is underwriting the prune sale campaign, has arranged for 9,000 pounds of prunes to be sold this season, and the rate at which they have been going insures a ready disposal of the remaining 3,000 pounds.

The plan is not to undersell local merchants. The profits go to the gymnasium and there are prizes for the boys and girls who lead in the sales campaign.

If you have not already bought, you are urged to get in your order, and if you have bought, see if you cannot find another source for using a few more boxes of prunes, is the plea of the youthful "salesmen" to their north shore friends.

Honored by British and American Anthologists

Miss Grace Strickler, a sister of Miss Irene Strickler, secretary of the Wilmetter Chamber of Commerce, residing in the west, received notice this week that several of her poems which have recently been published in American periodicals, have been selected by Moulte, English anthologist, to be included in his collection of the best poems for the year. She also received a communication from Braithwaite, American anthologist, stating that he likewise had selected some of her works for a similar publication.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. James, who have been living at the Georgian hotel in Evanston and were formerly of 1440 Tower road, have just bought a home at 188 Church road and are residing there now.
