Complete Addition to Skokie School

The new addition to the Skokie school will be inducted into use next Monday. At that time one of the sixth grades now housed in the Hubbard Woods school and another sixth grade from the Horace Mann school will be moved into the new section at Skokie. In addition two classes being conducted in rooms at Skokie which were formerly used for other purposes will also be placed in the new wing.

The addition forms a wing of the main structure corresponding to the wing on the north side of the building which was completed at the time the school was first erected. It is in accordance with the plans originally drawn up to take care of the needs of the school district as it expands, forming a unit of the main building.
