Hast Heard that Jazz Is Bad for Digestion?

The latest conclusion of cultists who are waging war against the noisy bands in the cafes and restaurants of England and most of the Continental countries, is that jazz music is so stimulating that it takes too much blood away from the stomach and therefore causes indigestion. Bands are so numerous and noisy in the majority of the British cafes that Britishers declare it is no longer possible to dine peacefully in public.

A census of restaurants and cafes without musical entertainment on the Continent, disclosed that Italy deserves the silence prize. In Northern Italy most of the better class hotels and cafes have either no music or have the dance band stationed at a long distance from the public dining rooms so that dyspeptic diners will suffer no ill effects.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Essley, formerly residents of Kenilworth, are now at the Orrington hotel for about six weeks. After the holidays they are leaving for Miami Beach, Fla. Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Ostermann of Evanston have purchased their home at 234 Warwick road.

Dr. Edwin T. Schildberg of 642 Ash street, entertained his family over Thanksgiving.

Stage Her Play

Louise Ayres Garnett, whose plays have had numerous performances in various dramatic circles along the north shore, has written "The Royal Makeup" recently in the playwriting class sponsored by the Town and Gown project of the Drama Club of Evanston and Northwestern University School of Speech. It will be produced today by players of the school for entertainment of the Drama club at the auditorium of the Woman's club.

Mrs. George Sunderland of 1285 Asbury avenue left Sunday to visit her mother, Mrs. John B. Reuss, of Fort Wayne, Texas, for ten days or two weeks.
