Don't even try to imagine what you're going to give people for Christmas until you've seen the gifts in this Gift Shop. Bring your list right here—and fill it right here. We guarantee you an hour or two of the pure, undiluted delight that gift-buying ought to be!

And we honestly believe that you'll be astonished at the lowness of the prices on most exquisite little things!

A soft leather folder to contain two photographs, $7.00.

A Cedar-lined brass cigarette box from China has a jade-like ornament set into the top. $3 or $4.50.

An India Brass tray of an exquisite elongated oval, with wrought handles, $5.00.

A day-by-day calendar with celluloid "days"—set on a stand of brilliant red or jade green galalith, the whole thing no higher than 3 inches—$2.00.

A case for a paper package of matches, to match the calendar above, $2.

A red, green, or lavender shoe horn of galalith, is designed in mule-shape—the silver heel making the handle. $2.75.

A bullet cigarette lighter of brass, nickel and colored enamels, $1.00.

Peacock quills with two curled plumes, $3, including the cup which holds the pen when it isn't being used. Ostrich plume pens, $2 to $3.50—in an enchanting array of colors.

A Florentine hand-tooled leather jewel case, with gilt illumination, furnishing brilliant contrast to its somber colors, is $12.00.

A tiny blue alabaster clock is $7.50. A gem for a boudoir!

A hand-tooled Florentine leather photograph frame for a desk, $2 and $2.75, depending on size.

A nest of bright-colored ash trays, with nicked edges and a nicked frame, $5.50.

The modernistic deer that appears in wood carvings and various ornaments, may now be seen involved in intricate colored-enamel decorations on a brass cigarette box, at $5.

Cases for Poker Chips—of massive walnut or mahogany—square or round—may be had from $4.50 to $10. Made to contain various quantities of chips and cards.

A Florentine Leather Portfolio with a silk moire lining, is $7.50. A very handsome gift that will not readily be duplicated.

A Portfolio Scrap Book, for large photographs—has a moire lining, and is priced $25. Florentine hand-tooled leather, green and maroon, illuminated in gold.

A convenient letter portfolio, with compartments, has a cover of Florentine leather, hand-tooled, in rich, dark colorings, $17.00.
