HOME FOR HOLIDAYS

Frank and Larned Blatchford, the sons of Dr. and Mrs. Frank Blatchford of 32 Indian Hill road, are expected home December 23 from Harvard, where Frank is a sophomore and Larned, a freshman. Dr. and Mrs. Blatchford's daughter, Mrs. Ludlow S. Fowler of New York will arrive that same day with her husband to spend Christmas with her parents. Mr. Fowler will stay only over the week-end, but Mrs. Fowler will be here for two weeks. Mrs. Blatchford returned last week from the East, where she spent Thanksgiving with her sons and was in New York with Mrs. Fowler for two weeks.

Miss Barbara Barrett, daughter of the Arthur Barretts of 530 Cherry street, returns next Wednesday from the Knox school at Cooperstown, N. Y.

Almer Coe & Company Announce

Mr. Frank Wohlleber, until recently manager of our Evanston store, having retired from the optical field to engage in the business of insurance, has been succeeded by

Mr. Theodore Colberg

Mr. Colberg has been in our organization for more than ten years and has every qualification to adequately meet the most exacting requirements of our discriminating Evanston and North Shore clientele.

Almer Coe & Company are duly appreciative of the hearty support and loyalty you have accorded our Evanston store since its opening in 1919, and we shall hope to merit a continuance of this confidence by striving to still further improve our service to you.

Scientifically equipped and supervised, this store possesses, we believe, the assuring atmosphere of stability and dependability characteristic of the service rendered and the merchandise sold in our stores for more than forty years.

You are invited to come to us on all occasions when we can be of service to you either optically or photographically, and for maximum eye comfort we urge frequent adjustment of your glasses.

ALMER COE, President

Players of the BANJO and other fretted instruments.

A knowledge of analytical harmony will enable you to determine the names of the chords in any musical composition from the piano score and play them upon your instrument, thus giving you the ability to play any number whether it has been already arranged for your instrument or not. Mr. Meltzer, himself an artist pupil of Alfredo Quartullo, graduate of the Conservatory of Naples, and David Berend, formerly of the Vincent Lopez orchestra, will combine his training on the fretted instruments with his complete knowledge of musical theory gained during his four year course at Northwestern University which awarded him the degree of Bachelor of Music to give two interesting courses in this subject.

Course I—Elementary Harmony.
Scales, intervals, chord construction.

Course II—Advanced Harmony.
And analysis of many folk-songs and popular compositions.

Each course can be completed in ten half-hour private lessons.
