Clarence Robey photo

NEW Trier High school has a basketball team which is following closely in the victorious path blazed by its football team. It is a fighting team. It should be mentioned here that Charley (Chick) Markley, who was the outstanding player on the football team, is playing guard on the cage team. Those in the picture: M. Nelson, forward; Capt. John Sheldon, forward; C. O. Grater, coach; Charles Markley, guard; S. Ploughman, guard.

Missionary to Address Watch-Night Services

One of the special features of the Watch-night service next Saturday evening at the First Scandinavian Evangelical church, Winnetka, will be an address by the Rev. Titus Johnson, returned missionary from Belgian Congo and founder of the Evangelical Free Church African Mission. Mr. Johnson has sometimes been called "the second Livingston," because of his extensive travels in the African jungles, and by reason of the pioneer character of his missionary activities.

The Watch-night service will commence at 9 o'clock and continue until after midnight. It will be conducted in the English language.

One man here in Winnetka says that last year he made out his Christmas list and supplied all the gifts he could. Then he just brought it down here and got a Sheaffer fountain pen for everyone else on the list. A Sheaffer fountain pen is a fine gift for anyone.

When people ask us for a gift suggestion for someone who "has everything anyway" we usually take them over to our stationery counter. There's an unusually fine line of stationery from which to select this year. Want some?

How are your friends going to know you're thinking about them on Christmas and New Year's unless you send them a card. You have the friends, and we have the cards. Let's get together.
