Inseparable with the new year is the problem of re-investment of funds. Security, fair yield, wholesome relationship to your present holdings require thought and experience, demanding more than casual selection in purchase.

We will gladly consult with you by appointment, as you wish in your home—at your office—or here in the bank—and work out with and for you a list of the better investments fitting your particular needs.

Intelligent, experienced cooperation of this personal character cannot help but benefit you, and we hope you will use generously this better way of selecting your securities.
