

Lee Says:—

LIFE is made up of TWO things, hoping FOR rain and wishing IT would quit.

We don't blame you people for wondering what in the world the doctor is talking about when he makes out a prescription. We used to wonder ourselves until we got into the prescription business. Now we're ready to fill any prescription you bring us. Come ahead!

Fifteen years ago when they didn't use them for anything else, "hot water bottles" may have been a good name. But now that we're using them for cold water bottles and ice packs, etc., we'd suggest that they call them general utility bottles, or something like that. Need any "general utility" bottles? We have a dandy at $2.50.

They can't tell us the drug store business isn't an education in itself. There's a regular semester course of French in the names on our perfume bottles. We don't understand what they all mean in French but in American they mean "plenty good" perfume.

If you want our honest opinion, we'll have to say that Luick's Wisconsin Ice Cream is just a little bit better than any other brand of ice cream we ever tasted. That's why we serve it here exclusively.

included "Sunset in the Skokie" by Hugo Von Hofsten. Hal Clarke had a most attractive water color study of tulips. Lionel Robertson exhibited "Dwight's Garden." Ruth R. Gibson had two nice water colors, and John M. Frank had two splashy ones, based on scenes in Hubbard Woods.

"The Song," and "The Week Before Christmas," two drawings done by Elizabeth Englehard in the new lithograph work, were much commented upon. Bertha Alling's "Susie" was both clever and amusing. Caroline Louise Burnham showed an interesting modernistic painting.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH WORKERS RAISE $489,085

Men of Parish Celebrate End of Drive for Building Fund at Dinner

A total of $489,085 has been pledged for the new Winnetka Congregational church, it was announced at the complimentary dinner given for all the men of the parish at Community House, Monday evening.

The canvass has been in progress only since December 11. Five hundred fifteen people pledged the foregoing amount, which, it is anticipated, will be increased materially when others, whom the canvassers were unable to see, have had an opportunity to make their pledges.

Some of these are out of the village at present, and it is expected, it is said, that the final report will not be completed for two or three months.

Two Districts Tied

Carl Easterberg, who conducted the money raising campaign, presented the report from canvassers in the two districts, declaring the result of the contest to be a draw.

The report made Monday evening to the finance committee will, in turn, be made by the latter committee to the church. The next step in the procedure will then be determined.

The meeting Monday evening was a jolly affair, a veritable celebration of the successful achievement, for which lavish compliments were bestowed.

James White presided, and impromptu speeches were made by many, including Judge Charles Thompson, William D. McKenzie, William C. Boyden, George Everett, John W. Scott, Fred Scott, and Rev. James Austin Richards.

Canvassers Enthusiatic

William C. Boyden, one of the canvassers, expressed the sentiment of every one of his co-workers in the campaign when he declared he never had a happier time than he had enjoyed during the past two weeks. He was enthusiastic over this church, he said, the building of which he declared is a community enterprise in which everyone who has any interest in this church will want to participate. The whole spirit of the church he said is finer than he had ever known it.

George Everett spoke on the amount of satisfaction each will have because of having taken part in this effort, and Rev. James Austin Richards spoke of the spiritual significance of the whole thing.
