

News of the North Shore Clubs

Music Society to Meet Next Monday

North Shore Musical Society to Hear Spanish-French Program at Georgian Hotel

The North Shore Musical society will hold its next regular meeting at the Georgian hotel, Evanston, Monday, January 30, at 2:15 o'clock. The hostess for the afternoon is Mrs. C. P. Dubbs, who will be assisted by Mrs. H. A. Bush and Miss Dorothy Rae. The program, which is to be Spanish-French follows:

- I Duet—from "Lakme" .....Delibes
Frances Evans
Frances Copthorne
- II Waltz, C sharp minor .....Chopin
Le Cedre .....Cesar Cui
Jean MacShane
- III Sonata .....Cesar Franck
Allegretto Moderato
Allegretto poco Mosso
Dorothy Macauley
- IV Fleur des Alpes .....Wekerlin
Je dis que rien ne m' epouvante.... from "Carmen" .....Bizet
Vilanelle .....Eva Dell' Acqua
Olive Ahara
- V Prelude A minor .....Debussy
Poissons D'Or .....Debussy
Seguidilla .....Albeniz
Erna Akely
- VI Aria—Il est doux, il est bon, from
"Herodiade" .....Massenet
Psyche .....Paladine
Paris .....Manning
Elizabeth English
- VII Trio Number 2 .....Godard
Andante
Allegro Vivace
Elizabeth Weixel, violin
Mary Hughes, cello
Margaret Hughes, piano

Junior Arts Salon Gives Its Monthly Program in Glencoe

The regular monthly meeting of the Junior Allied Arts salon was held at the residence of its president, Frances Maydelle Rochlitz, 215 Harbor street, Glencoe, Sunday, January 22.

Miss Anna Balatka, well known pianist, and president of the Balatka academy, was guest of honor and played Chopin's "Military Polonaise." Miss Leila Petersen, a dramatic reader and teacher in the same academy, gave a reading, "Five Cents for Luck."

The members of the salon presented the following program:

- Piano
Hovering Butterflies .....Jessie T. Gaynor
Katherine Jane Lightbody
- Reading
The First Snowfall .....James Russell Lowell
Lois McCallum
- Piano
Clayton's Grand March .....C. D. Blake
Louise Teich
- Reading
In School Days .....Margaret Jean Sinclare
- Piano
Idilio .....Theodore Lack
Grace Hirschberg
- Reading
Sally in Our Alley .....Henry Carey
Henrietta Sexsmith
- Piano
Chanson .....Rudolph Friml
Bettie Dostal
- Piano
What Do We Do on a Dew Dew Dewy Day? .....Berlen
Marion French
- Reading
The House with Nobody in It .....Joyce Kilmer
June Orwig
- Piano
Mazurka .....Chopin
Jane Orwig
- Reading
How Grotins Left the Castle .....Mary Frances Rogers
- Readings
Little Girl of Yesterday .....Ophelia Lawrence Blair
I that was You
Frances Maydelle Rochlitz
- Soap .....Phyllis Fergus
Frances Maydelle Rochlitz

On League Program

Photo by Strauss Peylin

One of the most interesting meetings of the season for the Wilmette League of Women Voters was that which took place yesterday at the Baptist church Parish House. The occasion was a luncheon and meeting, the former served at 12:30 o'clock, the latter having as its special feature, a talk by Miss Jessie DeBoth on "Marketing and Living Costs." Miss DeBoth is an expert on home economics.

Mrs. Frank France, social chairman, was in charge of the luncheon committee composed of Mrs. J. Sheddon, Mrs. R. Armstrong, Mrs. George Iliff, Miss Alice Wheelock, Mrs. J. A. Borncamp, Mrs. J. G. Elder, Mrs. H. D. Lehr, Mrs. H. S. Condit, Mrs. Charles L. Mohr, Mrs. Paul L. Roche, and Mrs. E. M. Simonds.

Junior Membership Plans for Large Afternoon Bridge

One phase of club activity that gains in interest and scope along the north shore, and which still is in its infancy, is that of junior membership, which offers a definite place in club life to daughters of members of federated women's clubs. So far three organizations of this kind have sprung into being in these villages, the Junior membership of the Woman's Catholic club of Wilmette, and the Junior auxiliaries of The Neighbors, the Kenilworth Woman's club, and of the Woman's Library club of Glencoe.

The first of these is to give an afternoon bridge, to which it invites all members of the Mother club to be present and bring their guests.

Arrangements for this, the only large bridge party of the Junior membership season, is in complete charge of the young members, under the chairmanship of Mrs. John Pahlman.

Miss Olive Oelerich, social chairman, has arranged for the prizes. Miss Stella Pahlman, president of the juniors, will be hostess. Assisting her will be Miss Estelle Englehart, Miss Clara Meter, Miss Viviana Tarnow, and Miss Olive Oelerich.

Mrs. Harry Barnum, 735 Walden road, gave a lecture on "Landscape Arrangement of the Small Garden" Friday, January 27, at the Woman's club of Joliet.

Garden Club Tells How Winter Birds Enjoy Daily Food

(Contributed by Wilmette Garden Club)

The first cold snap of the winter came without warning and snow followed close upon it, hiding all the grass and weed-seeds that the birds have been feeding on during the fall.

A telephone call to the butcher brought quick response in the shape of a generous chunk of beef suet. A piece of fine chicken wire fastened around a tree not too far from the house, formed an easily prepared and quite successful holder for the suet and the birds' restaurant was established. It should have been ready earlier in the season, and we feared that it might not be discovered very soon.

However, within half an hour, a merry little fluff of gray and black flitted down from a tree-top and although too nervous and restless to stay long, the chickadee and his mate came back time and again until they had had a real meal.

Before many moments passed, a white breasted nuthatch and his mate with their "quank-quank" came to try the new food supply. A downy woodpecker and a brown creeper evidently saw the other birds enjoying themselves and joined them, circling around the tree from the base up, while the acrobatic little nuthatches worked away hanging head down.

These little fellows showed a true sense of conservation that we human beings all too often lack. If their pecking at the suet broke off pieces too large, they repeatedly took such pieces, and hunting up and down the tree trunk, found little niches into which they set the suet particles, tapping away at them until they were securely fastened in. Whether those caches of food are considered each bird's own private supply, or public property, we have not decided.

Realizing that the birds as well as human beings must have their balanced diet, we next built a little feeding tray which we suspended from a wire stretched slantingly from the tree to an upper story window. By hanging the tray to a little pulley, we are able to pull it back to the window for re-filling.

Regular cracked grains and bird seed seem to satisfy best, but scraps from the table, crumbs of bread, crackers, cake ground up with a few raisins or peanuts, fresh meat, apple cores, a little hard boiled egg, shell and all, bring many happy chirping little customers.

One of the surprising things we have learned is the very apparent regularity with which the birds plan their visits to the luncheon counter. Every day within about the same five minutes they come flitting down, hungry, and sure of a meal.

Just a word of warning to those who are feeding the birds. The very days when we are busiest and most concerned about keeping our homes and ourselves warm are the days when birds are coldest and hungriest. Having once established their confidence in us, we must not fail them when they need us the most.

TO PLAN SISTERHOOD

A meeting will be held Sunday morning, January 28, at 10:30, at the home of Mrs. Sylvan Hirschberg, 175 Hazel avenue, Glencoe, for all those young girls of the North Shore Congregation Israel of 16 years of age or older, who desire to start a junior sisterhood.

Dr. Lois H. Meek on Club Program

Chairman of National Nursery Schools Committee to Speak at Winnetka Woman's Club

A speaker of national reputation and authority is to talk at the Winnetka Woman's club at its mid-winter luncheon, to be held Tuesday, February 7, at 1 o'clock. This speaker is Dr. Lois Hayden Meek, executive director of the American Association of University Women and also chairman of the National Nursery Schools committee. Dr. Meek spoke at the National Child Study conferences last year, both in New York and Chicago, and was declared "a great speaker."

The subject selected for her talk by Dr. Meek is "The Influence of Learning on Character," a most timely and interesting one in this day of hectic discussion of education.

Previous to the main address, Miss Marion Spach, director of the Winnetka Nursery school, and Mrs. Alfred Alschuler, staff director of this nursery school, will discuss "Our Nursery School, the Beginning of Character Building."

Feeling that the interest in both subjects and speakers would be widespread, the club has made the meeting an open one, to which guests may be invited. Mrs. Frank Crawford, chairman of the social committee, will have charge of the luncheon. The entire program is under the direction of the education committee, of which Mrs. S. George Levy is chairman.

Woman's Society to Hear Noted Child Specialist

Next Wednesday the Woman's society of the Winnetka Congregational church will meet in the Neighborhood room of the Community House at 10:30, for sewing. As there was only one meeting in January, owing to the annual church dinner, the society hopes every one will come out and help with the work. At 11:15 Dr. C. A. Aldrich, the child specialist, will speak on the subject, "Training the Child's Appetite." After luncheon there will be questions and a discussion on this important subject.

Owing to the fact that Miss Isabel McCausland of Kobe college, Japan, is arriving in this country later than had been expected, it was necessary to postpone the plans previously announced for the February 1 meeting. These will be carried out the second meeting of the month, February 15.

In Recital Today

Miss Marianne L. Putnam of 514 Birch street will present her pupils in recital this afternoon at 3:30, at the Evanston hotel. Those to play in the recital, all but four of whom are from Winnetka, are Mary Elizabeth Belding, Sylvia Anderson, Marylyn McAdams, Anna Banaco, William Belding, Hiram Belding, Ruth Burchmore, Dorothy Nauman, Dana Jackson, Gugganne Rundall, Nancy Claire Parker, Marshall Hauser, Elizabeth Laver, Ruth Samuelson, Barbara Burchmore, Joan McAdams, Vera Anderson, Margaret Laver, Anita Johnson, Mildred Hemple, Joan Parker, Lotta Stern, Betty Jane Bailey, Lila Johnson, William Sellery, Blanche Fortle, and Thelma Rice Jackson.