New Trier Tankers
Encounter Evanston
This Saturday Eve

New Trier High school swimmers meet the mermen from Evanston high school, this Saturday night at 8 o'clock at the New Trier tank.

While Evanston has the edge on paper over the New Trier swimmers it will not be a runaway meet in any particular, since the time records rolled up by the fastest men in the two schools show little to choose between.

Coach Jackson of New Trier will probably stick pretty closely to his revised lineup. Bennett and Roos are slated for the senior forty yard swim and the 100 yard crawl. Rogers was Coach Jackson's only entry in the 220 last Saturday, and will probably swim tomorrow. Rogers and Rich will be assigned to the breaststroke event, and Read and Netterstrom in the backstroke. Don Granstrom and Enchelmeyer will be entered in the fancy diving, while the regular quartet — Roos, Bennett, Williams, and Paterson, are the New Trier relay entrants.

The forty-yard event men for Evanston will probably be Troup and Eisner, with Wilson and Aiken in the 100 yard event. The breaststroke men will be Troup and Crawford, according to indications. Bowman and Verner will probably be the backstroke men, while Hartwell and Koradt are the fancy divers. Coolidge and Fitch are the men in the 200 yard freestyle.

Holmes is generally well up among the high point men for the Evanston juniors, and Banks and Beach are also dependable. For New Trier juniors, Prussing, Larner, Zinner, Springer, and Granstrom are the outstanding men. King has returned to the New Trier lineup after an enforced absence because of illness, and will undoubtedly do his part in the meet.

N. U. Campus to be Scene of College Drama Tourney

Taking their cue from the ancient Greek dramatic contests, American collegiate one-act troupes will gather on the campus of Northwestern university along Lake Michigan April 19-21 to compete for 1928 honors in the third annual University Theater tournament.

won the $250 prize and the Cumnock cup in the first two years of the tournament, but will probably meet stronger competition this year, according to Dean Ralph Dennis, of the Northwestern School of Speech, in charge of arrangements. Registration closes March 1. Monmouth college, Ill., University of Illinois, Berea college, Ky., and Evanston college, Ind., are already entered.

Members of competing casts must be undergraduates, carrying full work, and meeting all local requirements for intercollegiate competition. Plays are limited to 40 minutes, Northwestern furnishing the scenery. Judges will be named by Dean Dennis, and Theodore Hinckley, associate professor of playwriting at Northwestern, and editor of Drama.

The decision of the judges will be based upon the choice of play, direction and acting. The preliminary contests will begin on the evening of April 19, the final being scheduled for the evening of April 21.

or pencil drawing, water color or oils—in fact, every medium of artistic expression is brought to the student in interesting sequence.

Through problem after problem the student is taught the methods and principles of art practice in carefully planned lessons that combine studies from the model with creative work.

Drawing, composition, perspective, color and design are made easy by carefully planned teaching methods.

We invite critical inspection of our School, our methods and our work.
