3,500 Visitors at Homestead Opening on First Two Days

More than 3,500 persons visited the Homestead, Evanston's newest apartment hotel, Saturday and Sunday, the first days of the opening week, and inspected the establishment. Monday and Tuesday the interested crowds were only slightly smaller.

Besides the attractive entrance hallway, the tea room with its great fireplace and cosy lounge, the apartments on the second, fourth and seventh floors were on display. Guides were on hand to conduct the visitors about and explain the numerous features of the hostelry.

This eight-story brick building is entirely Colonial from the southern Colonial porch to the last bit of furniture in the individual apartment. It was designed by P. A. Danielson, Evanston architect, and the interior decorating was done by his wife, an instructor in the Evanston Academy of Fine Arts.

In it are combined the most modern hotel service equipment and all that goes to make up the charm of the old time houses. The furniture in the individual apartments has been chosen in accord with the Colonial style and the entrance hallway, lounge and tea room are also furnished with authentic things.

The lounge, the entrance hallway, the tea room and the apartments are provided with prints in keeping with the style of the building. Silhouettes and Godey prints are used in the apartments, etchings in the lounge and hunting prints in the entrance and the tea room.

In the entrance hallway hangs a series of six colorful Bachelor Hall hunting prints, showing different phases of the hunt. In addition there is a large print, "The Earl of Derby's Stag

Sisters of St. Francis Honor Doctors at Dinner

A company of 75 doctors and internes of St. Francis' hospital was entertained by the Sisters of St. Francis at a banquet last week Wednesday evening, an annual occasion to honor the hospital staff. The banquet table was laid in the lecture room of the hospital which was decorated appropriately in the Valentine theme.

A program was presented during the serving of the courses and included a piano number by Miss Mildred Garner, violin solo by Miss Florence Wagner and a musical reading by Mrs. Regina Wachtel with Miss Alice Walters accompanying on the piano and a reading by Miss Teresa Noon. Most of these entertainers were members of the nursing staff.

In addition a group of professional entertainers including singers, musicians and a magician provided a program.

Dr. B. M. Conley of Wilmette, president of the staff, was toastmaster. Early days the hospital history and their handicaps were described by Dr. G. W. Boot, senior member of the staff. The Rev. R. M. Kelley, S. J., president of Loyola university, in his talk lauded the spirit of cooperation between the doctors, nurses and sisters at the hospital. Other speakers were the Rev. P. J. Mahan, Dr. I. H. Chilcott, Dr. H. H. Reinsch, Joseph C. Northup and Walter S. Lovelace.

Hounds," engraved by R. Woodman after a painting by I. Barenger. Etchings in the lounge are from the needles of G. Bradshaw, W. Harry Smith and E. B. Warren. The Homestead's prints were all attractively framed especially for their present hanging by the F. I. B. Art shop, which also secured a number of them for Mrs. Danielson.
