Throngs of Women Attend Style Show at Store's Opening

Unusual interest was evinced in the style show conducted February 20 and 21 by the Junior league of Evanston at the new apparel shop of Edgar A. Stevens, Inc., 1624 Orrington avenue, Evanston.

It is estimated that more than 3,000 people were in attendance on the two days of the opening. The shop was crowded to capacity, it became necessary to lock the doors at times and many witnessed the pageant from the outside.

The newest creations depicting the mode for spring were shown in appropriate versions for daytime and evening wear. Sports attire received its need of attention, for it is averred by stylists to be correct for practically any occasion from sun-up until sundown. Many distinctive evening gowns were shown and also tailored coats, printed frocks and luxurious negligees. Street costumes were worn with hats and proper accessories to complement them. Fashion tendencies noted in the showing include:—uneven hemlines, circular and flaring skirts, the raised waistline, the flair for tweed ensembles, the fitted bodice, flounces and the trend for more femininity in every detail of dress than has been apparent for many a season. Hats showed much intricacy of design. Costume jewelry, true to its name, matched the costumes with which it was worn.

Among the new modes shown was an evening gown fashioned of an imported black lace shawl embellished with vivid shades and combined with point d'esprit. It was worn by Mrs. Arthur Rogers. Another evening gown of unusual charm was of marine blue chiffon, worn by Mrs. Leslie Wagner. The vogue of dots was exemplified in a smart dotted ensemble worn by Mrs. Wallace Thompson. Miss Marion Dawes wore a distinctive afternoon gown of black satin and chiffon. A swagger three-piece tweed ensemble was modeled by Mrs. Mitchell Harper.

Miss Dawes, vice-president of the Junior league, had charge of the exhibition. Mrs. Edgar A. Stevens, who is buyer of coats, gowns and ensembles for the shop, selected the garments shown.
