Speaks on Campus

William E. Dever, former mayor of Chicago and now vice president of the Bank of America, spoke on the future of politics before the Contemporary Thought class at Northwestern yesterday. Inadequate government, he said, is caused, immediately, by incompetent or dishonest public officials. To help the public elect responsible men to office and promote good government, the church, the school and the newspaper can help by being more plain speaking and exhibiting a little more courage.

ARCHITECTS TO SHOW

North Shore Association Plans First Annual Exhibition in March

The first annual spring exhibition of the North Shore Architects' association is scheduled for March 19 to March 31. While the location of the exhibit has not yet been definitely arranged it is hoped that it can be held in the ballroom of the Orrington hotel, according to Elmo C. Lowe, president of the association and chairman of the Evanston Plan commission.

The exhibition will consist of photographs of completed works by members of the association and invited exhibitors together with details, plans, sketches and models. Many of the members of the organization are internationally known for their buildings and many of the finest structures in the country were designed by them.

Evanston and the north shore is one of the few sections in the country that could produce an exhibit of the character and scope of that being planned by a committee under the chairmanship of Edwin H. Clark. It is the first event of its kind in local history and comes at a time when the officers of the association feel that enough outstanding material is at hand to make it worth while.

Charles A. Coolidge, famous Boston architect and one of the leaders of his profession, is scheduled to be the speaker at a banquet of the association to be held in the Orrington hotel March 19, the opening night of the show. This is the regular meeting night of the organization.

Otto Clepp Winning New Laurels in Dramatics

The New Trier High school friends of Otto Clepp, a former student there, will be interested to hear of his work in the Dramatic club play at Elgin Academy. This play was given at the Elgin Masonic temple, on the evening of February 24. Otto took the part of the mountain minister, in Lula Vollmer's play "Sun-up." He gave to this important part a very excellent characterization, it is stated, and his friends are looking forward to seeing him in another production "Mr. Pim Passes By," by A. A. Milne, in the near future. Otto is making a splendid record at Elgin and has just recently been appointed Advertising manager of the school annual, "The Hilltop."

BACK FROM GOLFING TOUR

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman M. Goble of 511 Ash street returned recently from an interesting tour of the southern states. They were members of one of the "Golf Special" trains, and visited eighteen cities throughout the south. Gulf Port, Biloxi, Lake Wales, and Clearwater, Fla., were included in the stops. The party made its home on the train during the entire trip, and was allowed time each day to play golf in the various cities.

AT HOUSE PARTY

Miss Elizabeth Eberhart of Evanston, formerly of Kenilworth, Miss Frances Allworth of Wilmette and Miss Margery Oleson of Kenilworth with Dryden Eberhart of Evanston, Bruce Thomas of Winnetka and Harry Wilson of Wilmette spent last weekend at a house party at Wauconda as guests of Mrs. Ward Martin of Chicago.

Miss Margery Oleson of 240 Woodstock avenue, Kenilworth, entertained last Friday evening. The guests were Miss Frances Allworth, Miss Betty Burns, Miss Alice Walton, Miss Marjory Cooke, Miss Jeanne Culver, Miss Elizabeth Evans, Miss Carolyn Baker, all of Wilmette and Miss Rae Kriete of Kenilworth and Miss Elizabeth Eberhart of Evanston.
