

These Are "The Early Days" of a Great Suburban District—

SKOKIE VALLEY

History repeats itself. The built-up sections of Chicago—North, South and West, once were a string of small, separated communities. Men who had the foresight then to see that they would some day grow together—and that desirable home and business sites would be choice property—profited by being on the ground early.

The same opportunity is presented today in Skokie Valley — "the North Shore's sheltered country side." It is the next logical development of the North Shore's phenomenal expansion. Frontage further east has reached a high price level. With the Skokie offering every advantage of suburban life, the population in this area is bound to increase more and more rapidly, with an assured upward trend of values.

BEAUTIFUL TREES

Your search for a homesite with beautiful trees will end when we show you this 5-acre tract, ideal for a quiet suburban home. Close enough to transportation to walk to the depot and close enough to Winnetka to use the schools, but miles away from the noise and clatter of the city. May we arrange to show it to you?

Skokie acreage is priced within the range of sound investment. Quinlan & Tyson can offer you some exceptional values in this region. Let us show you some of the best current offerings in this rapidly developing section.
