COUNTRYSIDE COURSE BECKONS TO GOLFERS

Season at Club Near Mundelein Formally Opened Last Saturday; Links in Fine Shape

Saturday, May 12, marked the formal opening of the season at the Countryside Golf club at Mundelein, Ill. Officials announce several new service features for the convenience of guests from the north shore towns and promise greens and fairways on the eighteen holes even better than last year. This year arrangements have been made for buses to meet all North Shore line trains—carrying patrons direct to the club. Other conveniences being offered for the first time are the daily meals and refreshments served in the Countryside clubhouse.

Though comparatively new among north shore golf clubs, this public fee course is already widely known for its sporty fairways and velvety greens and in the estimation of seasoned golfers rates high among north shore golf courses.

Convenient to North Shore

One mile outside of Mundelein, Countryside is a quick run by auto or North Shore line train from any north shore town. North shore golfers will find this eighteen hole course particularly appealing in its freedom from overcrowding. Though convenient to the north shore, it is secluded enough to escape the throngs. Countryside is a course on which one can play at his own pace without cooling heels at each tee or being crowded by impatient galleries at every stroke. Patrons get right on the course because the club house is situated between the two nines so that new arrivals can drive off on either the first or tenth hole.

Considered Among Finest

Jock Hutchinson approved the layout as planned for this course by the landscape architects, Root and Hollister. The course was built by the builder of the famous Bob-O-Link and Westmoreland courses. 6,618 yards of rolling green, bordering on the wooded shores of beautiful Countryside lake.

Now the fairways are again re-echoing to the sharp crack of the drive and the warning "Fore." Cleverly bunkered and intriguingly trapped, the eighteen holes are in perfect condition. An elaborate piping and tiling system assures splendid turf throughout the season.

Every Accommodation

Visitors will find Countryside accommodations adequate and complete. Comfortable dressing quarters for both men and women are afforded in the commodious clubhouse. A competent professional is always in attendance on the course and caddies are available.

Machines Take Labor Out of Housekeeping

The present age, which has rightly been called the mechanistic age, makes it possible for the average home owner to be more luxurious than in any previous era the world has ever known.

Domestic mechanical equipment has practically eliminated the old fashioned back breaking tasks which made home keeping without a servant such an arduous undertaking, and keeping a servant sometimes even harder.

In considering the modern machinery devised for the convenience of the home mistress, is it surprising that women are able to include so much of pleasure as well as of work in their day's program?

So many features there are which reduce the actual time spent in household labors; the sink, with its mechanical dishwasher appliance, the automatic range, the electrical refrigerator, the washing machine and ironer and cleaner, the gas or oil fueled furnace.
