

Start Registration for Summer Session at N. T. High School

With the close of the winter term at New Trier High school now scarcely more than a month distant, preparations are rapidly being completed for the opening of the summer session, which will start on June 18 and will close on August 10, extending for eight weeks as in previous years.

Registration for the summer work will probably be started this week, it was announced by Wesley L. Brown, director of the summer school.

The popularity of summer work at New Trier has been steadily increasing, registration growing at the rate of about a hundred pupils each year. As more than 700 students took class work last summer, it is anticipated that fully 800 students will be enrolled for this summer's courses, representing nearly one-half the regular registration for the winter term.

With classes arranged to meet from 8 o'clock to 12:30 during the cool part of the day and so that the entire season will be over to allow a four weeks' complete vacation from any school work, it is regarded as an excellent opportunity for educational advancement.

Many students consider it as a pleasurable part of their vacation activity, those who do need the credit enjoying it as a mental activity for the vacation months or utilizing it as an opportunity to provide insurance against possible sickness, failure or extended absence during a winter term.

Many others find that because of closely prescribed courses they are unable to take other special subjects which they would like to take and attend summer classes to obtain instruction in these departments.

BROADCAST PROGRAM

New Trier Glee clubs and orchestra were presented in concert over WLS, the Sears Roebuck radio station, last Wednesday evening. The selections were presented under the leadership of Mrs. Marian Cotton, director of music at New Trier High school.

President, Pioneer

Lena Madasin Phillips of New York city, president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women, was the pioneer whose activities resulted in the formation of the federation. In addition to the law practice she was conducting she became the first business women's secretary of the National Women's Christian association in 1918, and in that capacity she supervised the nationwide survey which led to the formation of the national federation.
