

Former Resident of North Shore Writes on Movies

Among that multitude of movie fans that pass each week through the gates of the many theaters of the United States—and the world for that matter—to steal away from the strife and grind of the material life and to dwell momentarily in the land of shadows, are those that follow in the newspapers and magazines the news of that other smaller multitude that works daily at the task of producing the films.

Some of the fans that thus take their movies seriously, have doubtless noticed the articles written by Ruth Biery which have appeared from time to time in Photoplay, a magazine devoted exclusively to motion picture news and issued monthly by the Photoplay Publishing company of Chicago and New York City.

Written in a style peculiarly her own, the articles relate most interestingly salient points in the life history of various stars, portraying vividly their characteristics and reflecting their personalities in such a manner as to break down the barrier imposed by the printed page and give the reader a glimpse of the real actor.

Theater goers of the north shore, who have read the articles, would have perused them with even greater interest had they known that they were written by a former neighbor. Ruth Biery, who now resides near Hollywood, was formerly a Winnetka woman, and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Lieber. Mr. Lieber is the Winnetka agent of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad and Mrs. Lieber is herself interested in literary work and is especially prominent in the Chicago and north shore areas because of her lectures on parliamentary law.

LUNCHEONS FOR VISITOR

A number of luncheons are planned in Kenilworth for Mrs. J. C. Carpenter's guests for next week. Among these are a luncheon on Monday at Mrs. Harry Vissering's, Kenilworth avenue, and also one at Mrs. Thomas White's on Tuesday. Mrs. Thomas Coyne is giving a second luncheon and bridge on Friday, May 25.

Mrs. B. C. Hawkes, Kenilworth avenue, Kenilworth has gone to Kansas City for three weeks to visit her son, Belnap, and his family.
