Harlan-Weber Wedding Is to Be Small Home Affair

Miss Ruthlea Harlan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Smith Harlan of 430 Sheridan road, Kenilworth, has chosen to have a simple and small home wedding when she becomes the bride of James Erdman Weber of Burlington, Iowa Saturday evening, May 26. A cousin of her father, the Rev. Fred Palmer of Denver, Colo., will read the service before a gathering of relatives and a few intimate friends at 8:30 o'clock in the evening.

Miss Harlan and Mr. Weber will have only two attendants, the former's sister, Miss Helen Harlan, who is returning from a trip Monday, and Clark Pace of Evanston.

Mr. Weber and his bride will make their home in Evanston after returning from their wedding trip.

Mrs. James Prentiss of Kenilworth spent last week-end in Ann Arbor, Mich., with her son, Bob, who is a student at the University of Michigan. James Prentiss, Jr., has been with his parents in Kenilworth while his wife and baby have been South.

Mr. and Mrs. John Rygel, 811 Foxdale avenue, and their children, Jack, Dick, and Nancy Rygel, returned last Sunday from a week's sojourn in Columbus, Ohio.

"BAB, A SUB-DEB" IS TITLE OF SENIOR PLAYNew Trier Dramatic Group to Give Edward Childs Carpenter
Production June 1-2

By M. B.

The ever-popular theme of the seventeen-year-old is familiar to everyone. It was Booth Tarkington's sympathy and appreciation for this often misunderstood individual that produced the novel, "Seventeen." Mary Roberts Rinehart has handled a number of incidents in the natural life of a certain Miss Barbara Archibald in much the same tone as Tarkington treated Mr. William Baxter. The New Trier Senior play this year is a dramatization by Edward Childs Carpenter of the book, "Bab: A Sub-Deb."

The story swings around this young person, who so violently objects to having people refuse to recognize her advanced years—although she is seventeen years and eleven days old at the time of the first act, she is willing at any time to imply unblushingly that she has seen the mature age of eighteen some time ago. An epidemic of measles is the reason that Bab's school was closed two weeks earlier than usual. She bounds into the middle of a quiet, orderly family, with enthusiasms and ideas that are the cause of several predicaments in the comparatively short course of three weeks.

Bab's Troubles

Bab, as the sub-debutante sister of the rather sophisticated Leila, has always been "denied the society of the other sex." Bab is regarded by Leila and her parents as a mere child until the momentous day she arrives home and startles the family with the news that the "divine passion has not entirely passed her by." This is something of an implication in itself, and, taunted by Leila, who suspects that she only wants to impress her family, she decides to get herself a romance. The autograph and picture of a handsome, if strange (to Bab) lover, help matters along. Love letters addressed to a Mr. Harold Valentine—Bab thought the name very clever to have been invented entirely by herself—are at least making a dent in her parents' curiosity. But...! Suddenly one day the supposedly fictitious Mr. Harold Valentine enters in actual flesh and blood! And then complications set in for the bewildered Bab.

Select Two Casts

There are two casts for this play, both of which are composed entirely of Seniors. "Bab" will be given the evenings of June 1 and 2.

North Shore Musical Group to Present Concert June 4

The North Shore Musical society will give its annual concert Monday, evening, June 4, at the Wilmette Woman's club at 8:15 o'clock. The event is open to the public without charge.

The artists who will give the program are Electa Austin, pianist; Ann Hathaway, violinist; a trio composed of Eugenia McShane, pianist, Bertha Dubbs, violinist, and Estelle Swigart, cellist; Dorothy Cordts, contralto, and Olive Ahara and Frances Cophorne, sopranos.

Mrs. R. F. Linn, Jr., of 310 Myrtle street, entertained on May 11, at luncheon at her home in honor of her guest, Mrs. George Trayser of New York.
