EMMERSON REITERATES PRE-PRIMARY PLEDGES

Replies to Wilmette Advisory Committee as Foe of Crime- Politics Alliance

Because of the failure of the Republican State convention to consider Senator Charles S. Deneen's proposed plank against the alliance between politics and crime, the Wilmette Voters' Advisory committee has sought an expression of the head of the Republican ticket, Louis L. Emmerson, on the subject. Mr. Emmerson, in reply to a letter addressed to him a few weeks ago by the Advisory committee, representing Wilmette churches and civic organizations, has come out unequivocally against any alliance between politics and crime. Mr. Emmerson's reply, addressed to Hoyt King, secretary of the committee, reads:

Cites Record as Answer

"Mr. King and members of the committee:

"I have your letter asking me to state my position relative to the 'divorce of politics from crime.'

"I should think my whole private and public career would be sufficient guarantee of my attitude. I have never been aligned with the criminal element in politics or elsewhere and certainly have no intention of being aligned with that element now. My campaign for the Republican nomination for governor was made on a platform of good government. No government is a good government unless it protects the decent, law abiding citizen in his home and at his business and assures him the right to have his ballot cast without interference and honestly counted when cast. Neither is it good government if the criminal element in our society has any domination of or influence with those charged with its administration.

Stands by Pledges

"I pledged the people that if nominated and elected I would give them an administration free from graft, extravagance or mismanagement. I promised to administer the government honestly, fearlessly and efficiently. "These were my pledges before the primary and they are my pledges now. Never in my life have I betrayed a public trust.

"Louis L. Emmerson."
