SUMMER CHIFFONS

THE new feminine mode finds its most charming expression in chiffons . . . plain colours and small prints for street wear . . . flower patterns, high colours and pastels for tea-time, for dining and dancing. All are so alluring in their fluttering scarves . . . rippling capes . . . uneven hem-lines . . . flowing draperies . . . smart little tiers . . . gay little ruffles. And for trimming . . . a velvet ribbon belt . . . a flower or two at shoulder and waist. Ready to put on.

"Russian Revolution" Will Be Depicted at Playhouse

No event in the history of the world has started such a mass of contradictory stories as the revolution in Russia. Every factor in every nation has distorted the facts to suit its own purpose. Now for the first time, an authentic, unbiased documental motion picture history of the event has come to the screen. It is called, suitably enough, "The Russian Revolution" and will open for a limited engagement at the Playhouse, 410 South Michigan boulevard, beginning Sunday, July 1.

Students, Visitors Keep Tennis Courts in Use

The tennis courts at the New Trier Township High school are kept in constant use by the summer school students and by visitors when the weather makes playing impossible. A nominal charge is made for outsiders who play on the courts. This is to cover the cost of upkeep.

Library Trustees Meet in Evanston to Discuss Laws

Mrs. Karl King and Mrs. L. F. Gates, of the Wilmette library board, Mrs. Carrie B. Prouty, E. R. Lewis, and D. K. French from the Winnetka board, and O. R. Barnett and H. P. Pope from the Glencoe board were among those who attended a dinner meeting given by the Evanston public library board last Thursday evening in the fountain room of the North Shore hotel, Evanston.

The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the question of library legislation in the state and to consider the responsibilities of library trustees.

Mrs. A. W. Errett, president of the Illinois Library association, Theodore W. Koch, librarian at Northwestern university, and M. F. Gallagher, of Evanston, were the speakers. C. R. Kappes, president of the Evanston board, presided at the meeting.
