Miss Susan A. Windes
Taken by Death June 23

The sudden death of Miss Susan Argyle Windes, daughter of the late Judge and Mrs. Thomas G. Windes of Winnetka, occurred Saturday, June 23, at Evanston. Miss Windes, a resident of Winnetka, had recently returned from Santa Monica, Cal.

She was born in Chicago, but, when a small child, her family moved to 530 Cherry street, Winnetka. She lived there with her parents from 1879, when they came to the village, until after their death four years ago.

Miss Windes attended the public schools in Winnetka, the Township High school in Evanston, the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, and the Art Institute of Chicago.

She is survived by three brothers, Frank A., and T. G., both of Winnetka, and Zel F., of Middleville, Mich. The funeral services were conducted by Dr. James Austin Richards, at Graceland chapel, Tuesday, June 26, at 11 o'clock.

WILL ADVISE FAIRBANKS

Maurice Leloir, authority on French architecture, who stopped in Chicago last week on his way west, will advise Douglas Fairbanks on sixteenth century sets for Doug's next picture, a sequel to "The Three Musketeers." Mr. Leloir, who is seventy-four years old and on his first trip to this country, was the winner of first prize at the Chicago World's fair in 1893 for a painting depicting the persecution of Protestants in France by Louis XIV.

PLAY GOES INTO 19TH WEEK

"Excess Baggage," the dramatic story of back-stage life by John McGowan, finished a six months' run in New York last week. The play is now in its nineteenth week in Chicago.

START SCHOOL SUNDAY

300 Executive Secretaries to Be in Evanston for Two-Week Session

Three hundred executive secretaries, many of them bringing their families, will be in Evanston by Sunday for the opening of the National School for Commercial and Trade Organization Secretaries, which convenes here for the eighth consecutive year.

The men will be housed at Willard hall and the women at Emerson hall. The families of those enrolled will be quartered elsewhere. The sessions of the school, which are held daily for two weeks, from 8:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., will be held in the Commerce building, Swift hall and Fisk hall.

The faculty of the school is composed of professors from various universities and colleges, including Northwestern, and older, experienced secretaries. The curriculum embraces a variety of economic and commercial subjects and other branches of study such as psychology.

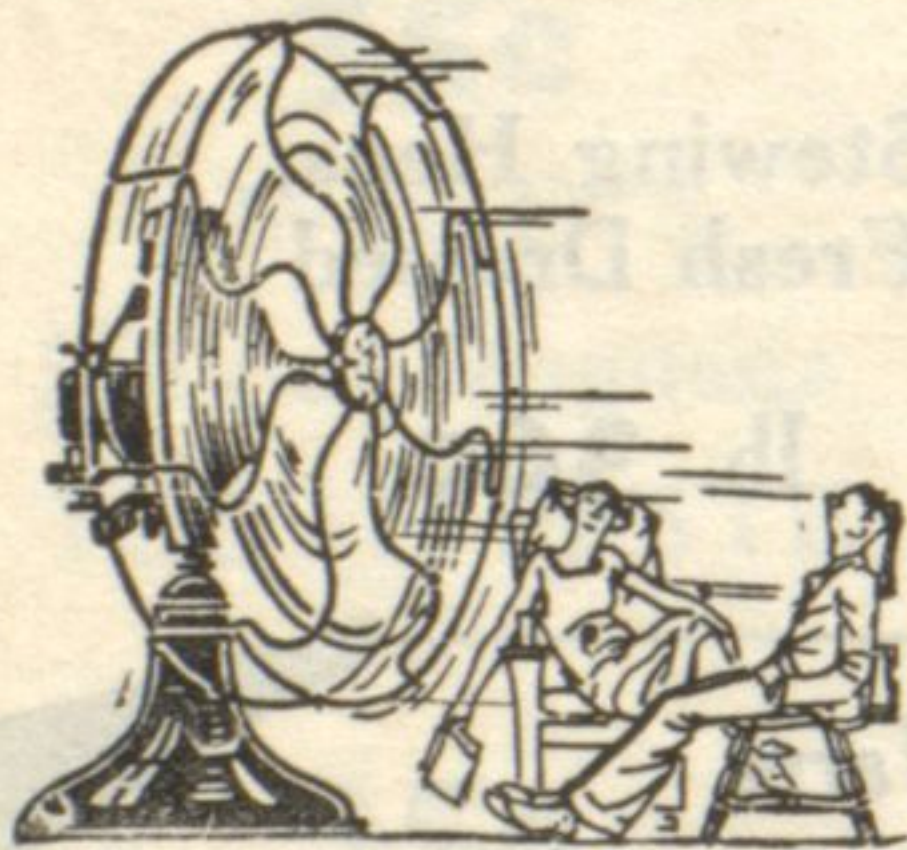

Plans for the entertainment of the students call for a get-together Sunday evening, at which Helen Mendenhall will sing, and similar gatherings every noon. M. J. Murphy, manager of the Varsity theater, has offered to pass students to any of the Varsity's performances during the school session "on their badges." He will also furnish a program for one of the noon meetings.

The school is sponsored by the United States Chamber of Commerce, two secretaries' organizations and Northwestern university. The Evanston Chamber of Commerce is co-operating in the entertainment of the students.

George White's Scandals, ninth issue, are being shown this week in New York.
