Arthur T. McIntosh Is Named President of N. U. Foundation

Arthur T. McIntosh, 521 Roslyn road, Kenilworth, has been elected president of the Northwestern University Foundation, it was announced this week by Thomas H. Gonser, executive secretary. Mr. McIntosh was graduated from Northwestern in 1900, and has been in the real estate business in Chicago since 1907.

The other new officers of the foundation are: vice-president, Vernon R. Loucks, a Chicago attorney; secretary, John Cadmus, former president of the Chicago Dental society; and treasurer, George P. Ellis of Chicago, a certified public accountant.

The Northwestern University Foundation was organized a little more than a year ago for the purpose of raising income rather than capital funds from among the university's alumni. The first year more than $25,000 was contributed by 1500 alumni. This amounts to income at 6 per cent on a capital of $500,000. Money contributed to the foundation will be used for teachers' salaries, research work and loan funds.

Twin Ignition

HIGH COMPRESSION

MOTOR

12 Spark Plugs [Airplane Type] instead of 6

The new "Twin Ignition" motor, in the new Advanced and Special Nash "400" models, is a truly amazing development in power.

It is a high-compression motor, with two ignition coils, instead of one, two spark plugs per cylinder, instead of one, 360 sparks per second at top speed, instead of 180, to thoroughly and economically burn the highly-compressed gases.

It sets a precedent in motor-performance among all motor cars.

Nash "400" Advanced Six models are now capable of 75 to 80 miles per hour with no effort at all.

Nash "400" Special Six models do 70 to 75 with consummate ease.

Another major advantage of the "Twin Ignition" motor is economy—more power, more speed, less gasoline.

Drive a new Nash "400" and you'll see what Twin-Ignition and high compression have done to give the world a new and finer motor car.
