

ANNOUNCE CHANGES IN HIGH SCHOOL FACULTY

Several New Instructors to Greet Students at Resumption of Classes This Fall

Several new faces will be seen among the faculty members at New Trier High school when the fall term opens in September. Some of the instructors of the last year have resigned or have obtained leaves of absence to continue their studies in universities, while others have resigned to teach in other schools. Cupid also took a few.

Miss Regina Weinman, registrar, was recently married to W. L. Brown, research director and director of the summer session. Her place will be filled by Miss Lillian Doing, who has been studying at the University of Chicago this year. Miss Doing was formerly secretary to the principal at New Trier.

Cupid Takes Toll

Miss Catherine Hinman, of the New Trier library, has been married, while Miss Mildred Crewe, also of the library, plans to study for a year. Miss Mary King, head librarian, is resigning; Miss Ellen Henderson, assistant to the school nurse, is to be married; J. R. Glace, of the French department, will move to California; Miss Marjorie Stewart, of the chemistry department, obtained a leave of absence to study at Columbia for a year; Miss Grace Buchwalter, of the German and Spanish departments, is resigning; Miss Clarissa C. Bell, who was exchanged with Miss Lulu E. Wright, of the English department, for a year, sails for her home in England this month, and Miss Wright will return about the first of September.

Several New Faces

Here is a list of the new teachers and their duties: Eleanor Libbey is the new head librarian; Miss Gladys Anderson is the new assistant nurse; Miss Virginia Donham is the new French teacher; Mrs. Hilde Walker will teach German; Miss Margaret Brew will return to the home economics department; Miss Elizabeth R. Baker will be added to the staff of the girls' physical education department; and R. S. Ream, Northwestern university graduate, who has been assisting in the chemistry department for the last year, will succeed Miss Stewart.

Going Away? Take Care of Mail Forwarding

The recent announcement that first class mail coming to the Winnetka postoffice will not be held more than ten days has been put into effect rigidly. The announcement affects only those residents of the village who leave for vacations without leaving forwarding addresses. According to postal regulations mail cannot be held for a longer time, but must be sent back to the return address in case it is not delivered. Second class mail is held for two weeks.

H. J. Bohnen Pinch Hits for Manager Woolhiser

H. J. Bohnen is taking over the village manager's duties in Winnetka during the absence of H. L. Woolhiser who is on a two weeks' vacation. Mr. Woolhiser expects to return to Winnetka the latter part of next week.

Rev. H. A. Pardue to Preach Sunday at Christ Church

The Rev. H. Austin Pardue, Jr., will be the guest preacher at Christ church, Sheridan road and Humboldt avenue, at the 11 o'clock service tomorrow morning. The topic of his sermon will be, "Shall We Decide?"

Mr. Pardue graduated from the Western Theological seminary and is well known in and about Chicago. He worked for some years in Chase House and in the city missions and was headmaster of Lawrence hall for Boys. Since leaving Chicago he has become one of the leaders of the young people of the Episcopal church and is now rector of St. James' church, Hibbing, Minn. He married Miss Dorothy Klotz and is spending a month's vacation with the Klotz family in their new Indian Hill residence.

There will also be a celebration of the Holy Communion in the chapel at Oak and Linden streets, Sunday morning at 7:30, and on Tuesday at 9:30.

Preaches Sermon Series on Life of Apostle Paul

During the summer months the Rev. Mr. Thompson of the First Scandinavian Evangelical church of Winnetka is preaching a series of sermons on the life and work of the Apostle Paul. Last Sunday his theme was: "Providential Preparation in the Life of the Apostle." The theme for Sunday morning, July 15, will be, "Paul's Conversion."

These services are held at 11 o'clock each Sunday morning. The Sunday evening Gospel services will be continued throughout the summer months.

Choose Qualifiers for Fell Golf Trophy Soon

The thirty-two qualifying round winners in the match play for the Fell trophy will be picked at Skokie Playfield Saturday and Sunday, July 21 and 22. The preliminary round was to have been played July 7 and 8 but was postponed because of the wet condition of the Playfield.

DRIVE TO GRAND CANYON

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. ReQua of 678 Sheridan road, left Winnetka June 3, and joined their son, C. H. ReQua, Jr., at Santa Fe. They are driving to the Grand Canyon of the Colorado and will come back early in August. On their return, Mrs. Stewart Johnson, who makes her home with Mr. and Mrs. ReQua, will go to Charlevoix with her daughter, Tita, for the rest of the summer.

Youth Drowns at Winnetka Beach; Second in Week

The second drowning within a week in Winnetka occurred at about 2:15 o'clock Monday afternoon when Barney Arthur, 23, of 2532 N. Kildare avenue, Chicago, fell off a raft into eight feet of water near Scott's pier, 1127 Sheridan road, and was drowned.

Neither Arthur nor his cousin, Arthur Peterson, also of 2532 N. Kildare avenue, Chicago, who was on the raft with him, could swim. Peterson attempted to make a rescue and narrowly escaped drowning himself.

Arthur was brought to the shore by Life Guard Eitzbach, of the Maple avenue beach, who made an unsuccessful attempt to revive him by artificial respiration. Dr. Christopher also worked over the victim for one hour and forty minutes and then pronounced him dead.

The body was taken to the Lewis undertaking parlors at 839 Elm street, Winnetka, where a coroner's inquest was held Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. The verdict was "asphyxiation due to accidental drowning."

Work on Addition to Skokie School to Start August 1

Construction of the nursery school addition to the Skokie school will be started about August 1, according to the plans of Alfred Alschuler, architect, who is donating the money for the building.

A nursery room, a kindergarten, five offices and six smaller rooms to be used as work rooms will be included in the addition, which is to be of the same type of architecture as the present Skokie school. The building will probably not be ready for use until late in the fall.

The need for expanded facilities for the nursery school classes in Winnetka led Mr. Alschuler to make the offer of a donation for the new structure some time ago. The Winnetka school board approved his plan at its meeting last month. Mrs. Alschuler, wife of the architect, has been one of the leaders in the nursery school movement and has been in charge of the classes at the Greeley school.

WOLSTEDS WRITE OF WORK AMONG HINDUS

Winnetka Missionaries Describe Living Conditions and Nature of Work in India

Clarence E. Wolsted and his wife, Mrs. Mabel Ewen Wolsted, missionaries to Manamadura, India, from the Winnetka Congregational church, have sent their annual letters for their friends here to the WINNETKA TALK. Extracts from both of the letters are printed herewith.

Mrs. Wolsted gives a very interesting account of how their family lives in India. She writes as follows:

"Now, because a great number have written asking how we live in India, I am going to try to give you an idea of how you would find the Wolsteds living, were you to visit us. Before we came out I had in mind that we would have to live in a thatched mud house, though I admit I did not plan that it should remain a mud house long. When we arrived in Madura and as we drove through the streets I kept looking from side to side wondering what house we were going to stop at. But thanks to the older missionaries, who learned by costly experience that such housing didn't pay, we have comfortable houses.

Describes Home

"Our bungalow is a two-story structure with no basement. The walls are very thick, made of country brick set together with clay mixed with lime. Then they are plastered and white-washed outside and in. We have a good veranda at the front and back to shut out some of the heat and glare. All of our floors are cemented. They are not very attractive but they are relatively cheap and the only thing for India. Even with the cement, the white ants find their way up through the first crack that appears, so it is never safe to leave trunks or boxes standing right on the floor for any length of time. We usually put them on racks. We use grass mats on the floors to brighten them up a bit.

"Our furniture is plain, but usable. We have a few wicker chairs that we ordered made in the Madras bazaar, which we like quite well. We have three rooms downstairs, consisting of living room, dining room and Clarence's office. I keep my desk in the hallway, where there is a good air current, so I don't stick permanently to my desk as I work there, for perspiration just flows and flows. Upstairs there are two bedrooms with a sleeping porch for each. The nights are often very warm and close so we always sleep on the verandas with mosquito nets suspended from frames attached to our beds. It is so comforting, when one hears swarms of hungry mosquitoes, to know they can't get you.

Then, There's the Kitchen

"How about that most important room in the house, the kitchen? It is built at some distance to the back of the house on account of the heat. We hire an Indian boy at five dollars per month to do the cooking. He goes to the bazaar each morning and buys supplies. He boils the water and pours it into porous clay pots to cool. We never drink water that has not been boiled. So also with the milk, boiling is necessary. In the morning I give him directions for the meals, having him measure out the supplies he needs. I have had to teach him the ways of proper cooking. Teaching about a baking oven was a real trial. Anything above luke warm was a baking oven until I had insisted almost all my patience away. He does very well now."
