Portraits of Prominent Chicagoans Go on Tour

The four portrait paintings of prominent Chicagoans which have recently been hung in the southwestern branch of the Chicago Chamber of Commerce, recently opened at Atlanta, Ga., will go on tour in other southern cities, it is now planned. The portraits are of Dr. Frank G. Logan, Edward B. Butler, Benjamin F. Ferguson and George B. Harris. The Atlanta Georgian published the portrait of Mr. Ferguson, who it will be remembered left a million dollars to Chicago, to be used in the erection of statuary to beautify its parks and boulevards. These four portraits were lent by the Art Institute from its permanent collection.

Other paintings which were sent from Chicago at the same time consist of "The Luxembourg Gardens," by Frederic Tellander, "Spanish Fishing Boat," by Arthur F. Ryder, and two landscapes by Louis O. Griffith, all Chicago artists. The purpose of establishing the Chicago branch in Atlanta is primarily one of good will with a view of establishing not only closer commercial relations, but of spreading the gospel of good art as well.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank Cheseaman of Kenilworth have returned from their motor trip east and are living at the Orrington hotel in Evanston. They stopped at Providence, R. I., to see their son, Eugene, graduated from Brown university, and visited the John Carpenters of Kenilworth at their summer home in the Blue Ridge mountains of Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. George G. Moody of 124 Robsart road left Kenilworth Monday morning for a vacation at Point Lewsonia, Green Lake, Wis.

VISIT SHORE JULY 27

Annual Picnic and Pageant to Be Combined on Inspection Day

The one big invitation day when Arden Shore opens every department of its work to the public and extends cordial welcome for investigation, is scheduled this year for tomorrow at the Lake Bluff fresh air camp.

It has been decided to combine the annual picnic with the annual pageant which customarily marks the close of the summer camp. There will be no elaborate program this summer, however. The children and some of the adults in camp will present three little playlets—an Indian story, "Robin Hood," and a nature study sketch.

Campers and staff workers are busy devising the costumes out of scraps of things donated by friends and the costumes which have been given. There will be songs and folk dances supplementing these. The program will last for less than an hour, it is announced. Members of the staff will report the nature and results of their work.

There will be the usual picnic luncheon with which visitors will provide themselves. Coffee and tea will be served by the camp directors.

All those interested in the work at Arden Shore, the largest inland fresh air camp in the country, are given cordial invitation to visit the camp that day.

David Hannah, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Hannah, 256 Woodstock avenue, Kenilworth, has gone to camp for the rest of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hamilton and family, 430 Woodstock avenue, Kenilworth, left last Friday for a vacation in the north woods of Wisconsin.
