

Woman's Influence in Politics

What have women done?

What are they now doing?

What will they do in future?

These questions will be discussed in a series of 20 articles published every other day in

The Christian Science Monitor

Sept. 5—Oct. 19

The articles will include interviews with outstanding women in the United States and other countries,—leaders of organizations working for the public welfare, better laws and law enforcement, and the solving of social, moral and ethical problems.

Public-spirited women all over the world will find these articles awakening—encouraging—inspiring.

Special offer of $1.00 for 38 copies of the Monitor mailed from Sept. 5 through Oct. 19, including the series

"Certified" Fuel Oil

is sure to be right

WHEN you fill up the tank on your automobile you are pretty sure to look for a familiar sign which you have found to stand for dependable quality. You buy your motor fuel to give you the greatest mileage, power, and freedom from carbon.

There is no reason why you should not apply the same considerations of efficiency when you buy fuel oil for your home. There is, in fact, more reason for doing so. For instead of mileage you are buying heat — home comfort. Correct flash point corresponds to the power feature. The third point connotes cleanliness — freedom from greasiness and soot.

The fuel oil we sell is certified—every drop of it!

Speaking of heating efficiency—if you have a coal furnace in your home, this is a good time to fill up your bin with our CERTIFIED coal at money-saving summer prices.
