

Anna Adams Gordon Reelected President of World W. C. T. U.

Miss Anna Adams Gordon of Evanston was reelected president of the World's W. C. T. U. at its current sessions in Lausanne, Switzerland.

Mrs. Ella A. Boole, national president, who spends much of her time in Evanston, was reelected first vice president. Miss Emilie Solomon of South Africa was elected second vice president. Miss Maria Sundstram of Sweden was chosen third vice president. The secretaries are Miss Agnes E. Slack of England and Miss W. T. G. Brown of Canada. Mrs. Margaret C. Munns of Evanston was reelected world treasurer. She is also national treasurer.

Plans have been made for campaigns in several countries. New Zealand will vote on prohibition; in Scotland there is a perpetual no-license campaign; in Austria the women are trying to get 200,000 signatures to a petition to the government asking that saloons be closed Saturdays and Sundays, and Irish Free State is trying to get a Sunday closing law similar to the one recently obtained by Ulster.

Reports from the world convention as written by special correspondent for the Christian Science Monitor, describe one of the most colorful of the convention sessions in the evening meeting at which 31 women, many of them in national costume, described the temperance work in their own countries. Most of the national organizations, it was reported, carry on civic, philanthropic and social work in addition to their temperance activities.

The Swedish group maintains a summer home for young people, an industrial home for girls, three children's homes, five summer colonies for children, a domestic science school, a nursery, two evening schools, three temperance cafes and a restaurant in the largest park in Gotenburg. Australian women have sailors' rest quarters in many ports; Bermuda has a rest room for factory girls; in Ceylon there is a children's play center; a kindergarten and training school is maintained at Buenos Aires; the Canadian branch has two homes for business girls, a woman's hospital and rescue home; the Swiss women have opened temperance restaurants, hotels and homes and pavilions.

All the countries stress temperance teaching in the schools, Germany supplementing the work with 20 traveling teachers. Burma sends teachers all over the country. There is temperance instruction in Egypt and Uruguay, in Bulgaria public temperance meetings are held, and in England and Wales caravans are maintained to carry the temperance message through the rural sections and the value of total abstinence is otherwise advertised.

Announce New Teachers Who Will Augment Joseph Sears Faculty at Kenilworth Next Month

With the opening of school in Kenilworth only a little more than four weeks in the future, the new teachers at the Joseph Sears school for the 1928-1929 term have been announced. There are five new teachers, three of whom are filling vacancies in the regular teaching staff, while two others have been added to the faculty.

Miss Gertrude Herrick, who comes to Kenilworth from Oak Park, will be athletic director for the girls, assisting Robert Townley in the gymnasium and playground activities. She is spending this summer at Camp Quinbeck, Ely, Vt.

Miss Leah M. Clark of Platteville, Wis., is the new teacher who will assist in the third grade work.

Miss Marjorie Stanton, of Oak Park, will take the place of Miss Irene Morris as kindergarten teacher.

Miss Ruth Barnett Smith, of Gary, Ind., will be the new fourth grade teacher. She replaces Miss Lillian Bitting.

Miss Juliet Hanford, of the Carbonale, Ill. Teachers' college, has been engaged for the English department, replacing Miss Dena Thompson.

There will be a meeting of all Joseph Sears school teachers Saturday, September 8. School starts Monday, September 10.

Austin Phelps to Take Yale Graduate Course

Austin Phelps, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Phelps of Kenilworth, graduated from Yale last June. He will return to Yale in September to take a three year course in the graduate department in biology and zoology. In connection with his graduate work, Yale university has invited him to teach in its biological laboratories, sixteen hours a week, beginning next September. This offer to be assistant instructor he has accepted and will leave very shortly for the Sierra Madre range in southern California to do some original research work among the insect and reptile life of that region. He will return in time to take up his new duties at Yale toward the end of September.

Illinois leads the nation in production of machinery used in fruit and vegetable canning.
