Pearl Theater Books Thrilling Movie Bill

Lois Wilson, Hoot Gibson, Antonio Moreno, and Gladys Brockwell play leading roles in pictures to be shown at the Pearl theater in Highland Park beginning this Saturday. Miss Wilson will be seen today in "Ransom." Tomorrow Hoot Gibson will perform in "Riding for Fame." Next Monday, August 13, Antonio Moreno is on the bill in "Nameless Men," and on Tuesday Gladys Brockwell in "Law and the Man."

The Pearl has booked "Hell Ship Bronson," starring Noah Beery, for two days next week, Wednesday and Thursday. As you might guess from the title, it is a story of deep seas and deep passions. The action takes place on board ship and in a waterfront drinking hall.

Next Friday there will be a double picture program at the Pearl, "The Girl He Didn't Buy" and "Beware of Blondes." In the latter Mr. Matt Moore finds himself on an ocean liner, far out on the briny deep, with blondes to the right of him, blondes to the left of him, blondes all about him, not volleying and thundering, but certainly keeping him all het up.

WILLIAM COLLIER BUSY

William Collier, Jr., has started work on a picture called "Hard Boiled Rose," in which he will play opposite Myrna Loy. It is a vitaphone special, with Harmon Weight as director. Collier is also scheduled to start soon on "Floating College," to be directed by George Crone.

NEW FILM EXPERIMENT

Plans for offering a dramatic and musical version of John Erskine's "Helen of Troy" simultaneously are under consideration at the present time. Producers are conferring on any possible legal entanglements.

NANCY DOVER A NEW ONE

Nancy Dover, Texas girl who has just signed a long contract with Paramount, will have her first work as a Christie lead with Bobby Vernon.
