IDEALS IN BUSINESS

NO commercial enterprise can be successful in the true sense of the word unless it is operated on high principles—unless the men in charge of it have high ideals of responsibility and service.

Ideals are of particular importance in the funeral directing profession. The mortician has an unusual opportunity to render sympathetic service, and a sacred trust is reposed in him.

Back of the many details which make up the work of this establishment, guiding every smallest part of our work, are the fundamental ideals and principles upon which our reputation has been built.
